A WINTER'S OUTING ON ICE-COVERED POND

This winter scene is not a Currier and Ives turn-of-the-century print, but Lancaster County, Pa., last Saturday. Ten hockey enthusiasts, Amish style, ignored overcast weather to take advantage of ideal skating conditions on Pequea Creek, east of Lancaster. Equipment ranged from the overshoes as goal markers to the straight stick used by one of the players in combat for the puck. (AP Wirephoto)

E. Germany In New Overture To Bonn

Demands Are Listed For Closer German Harmony

BERLIN (AP) — Walter Ulbricht made it firmly plain today that only full recognition of his East German State by the West Germans could lead to better relations between the two parts of the divided nation.

At the same time, Ulbricht said that a treaty on the renunciatfon of force, as Bonn says it will propose, must await the outcome of similar talks between the Soviet Union and West Germany.

Ulbricht ticked off a list of demands at his first news conference attended by Western correspondents in nine years.

READY TO TALK

In Bonn, a spokesman for the West German government said the upshot of the news conference in effect was that Ulbricht had confirmed that his Communist government is ready to start talks with Bonn.

The spokesman, Conrad Ahlers, said the West German government plans to propose talks on a mutual renunciation of the use of force this week.

Ahlers said the proposal will be made in a letter to the East German premier, Willie Stoph.

Ahlers contended that Ulbricht's demand for treaties that would involve recognition of East Germany as a separate, foreign nation would not serve as a barrier to any talks.

EXISTING BORDERS

"Treaties, as is known, belong at the end of negotiations, not at the beginning," Ahlers said.

Ulbricht told the news conference that West Germany must recognize East Germany unconditionally, as well as the presnt alignment in Europe; recognize existing borders, including that between the two Germanies; renounce the claim to speak for all the German people, and renounce discrimination of East Germany and its people.

Over and over Ulbricht stated that normal, equal relations between East and West Germany can be achieved only on the basis of internatfonal law. This would make the two Germanies foreign states to one another, something West Germany says it cannot accept.

GOOD HEALTH

About 400 newsmen from Western and Communist countries attended the news conference. Now 76, Ulbricht appeared in good health. He wore a dark blue suit. His beard was sharply white in the glow of television lights.

He said the proposal for diplomatic relations that he sent to President Gustav Heinemann of West Germany last month was meant "very seriously."

The Communist leader accused West German "ruling circles" of continuing to follow a revenge-seeking course "with the aim of annexing the East German Democratic Republic into NATO."

"If one asks us about the immediate goal of our own efforts," he continued, "we say openly: We want to hold West Germany back from the path of revengeism, the policy of atomic armament and the policy of war and to help the people of the West German Federal Republic, especially the West German workers and the West German youth, to achieve a peaceful and secure future."

Hitting back at Brandt's claim that East Germany is adopting a harder course toward the Bonn government than the rest of the Soviet bloc, Ul-

G. HARROLD CARSWELL
May be nominated

Nixon Held In Decision On Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Star, quoting unnamed "informed sources," says President Nixon has decided to appoint Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahasse, Fla., to the Supreme Court.

Nixon named Carswell last summer to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which handles cases from Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. He had been a U.S. district judge in Florida since 1958, when he was appointed by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon has said he will send to Congress shortly his nomination of a justice to succeed Abe Fortas, who resigned last year. The Senate rejected Nixon's earlier nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. for the post.

In addition to Carswell, those named in speculation about the appointment have included U.S. District Judge William E. Miller, 61, of Tennesse and Louis H. Burke, 65, associate justice of the California Supreme Court.

Carswell, 50, is a native of Georgia but started law practice in Tallahassee in 1949. He was named U.S. attorney for Northern Florida in 1953. When he was named a U.S. district

16 Cadets Killed By Cong Mine

SAIGON (AP) — A powerful Viet Cong claymore mine exploded in the midst of a column of South Vietnamese officer cadets near Saigon today, killing 18 Vietnamese and wounding 35.

Killed were 16 cadets at the Thu Duc Military Academy, one officer instructor and one civilian. The wounded were 34 cadets and an officer instructor.

A company of 150 to 200 cadets had just begun a morning training exercise when the mine was electrically detonated by remote control and sprayed hundreds of shrapnel pellets into the column.

The academy is six miles north of Saigon.

OTHER ACTION

Only light, scattered ground action was reported elsewhere, but the U.S. Command reported a sharp increase in enemy rocket and mortar attacks in the Mekong Delta, south of Saigon.

Headquarters said that in the 24 hours up to 8 a.m. today, 30 rocket and mortar attacks were reported throughout South Vietnam, 21 of them in the delta.

No Americans were reported killed, but 27 were wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were described as light over-all.

The U.S. Army announced that a rescue helicopter had pulled three American helicopter crewmen to safety last week from within 50 feet of a North Vietnamese patrol after the Americans had evaded enemy patrols for three days. A fourth man was still missing.

COPTERS DOWNED

The U.S. Command also reported three more American helicopters were shot down last weekend and five of the crewmen were wounded. This brought the total number of U.S. planes and helicopters lost in Vietnam to 6,333, valued at between $6 billion and $7 billion, a U.S. spokesman said.

American troop strength in Vietnam has dropped to its lowest level since Oct. 28, 1967, the U.S. Command said. A weekly summary put U.S. strength at 465,200 men, down 2,300 from the previous week and 18,800 below the current authorized ceiling of 484,000. A spokesman said

Seashore, Nevada Land Swap Urged

A multi-million-dollar exchange of Point Reyes land for 240,000 acres of excess government land in Nevada has been proposed by a Las Vegas man, the Independent-Journal learned today.

Abe Fox of Las Vegas made the proposal last week to the Bureau of Land Management, offering to take options on private land at Point Reyes to use as a base to trade for federal property in Clark and Nye counties around Las Vegas.

Neither the value of the 240,000 acres nor the land to be exchanged at Point Reyes has been fixed, a bureau spokesman told the I-J.

The net result of the exchange would be to expand the Point Reyes National Seashore — the aim of a long campaign waged in Marin County.

Fox proposed that the exchange be made in nine pieces.

While the value of the 240,000 acres has not been set, it would be close to $5 million if its value approximated that of 81,000 acres in Elko County, Nev., being considered for exchange with Point Reyes land.

Rolla Chandler, land office manager for the Bureau of Land Management in Reno, Nev., said today that most of the 81,000 acres ranged in value from $15 to $25 an acre.

The 81,000-acre exchange already has drawn fire from Nevada officials, who want the surplus federal land in their state to remain public property. It is too valuable for wildlife, recreation and access to other public land to be sold, they say.

Nevada should not have to give up its public land for parks in other states, they have complained.

As a result of such protests, the bureau has called a public hearing on the exchange at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the elko County Courhouse, Elko, Nev. The exchange has been sought by 37 Elko property owners, mostly ranchers who want to get access to water or to expand grazing area, Chandler said.

The proposed exchange of 150 acres at Las Vegas Airport for 2,455 acres at Point Reyes, worth about $2 million, is "well along," Chandler noted. This involves the 1,182-acre Sayles Turney property near Drake's Bay and the 1,273-acres Millard Ottinger property adjacent to Tomales Bay State Park.

The exchange is being sought by Clark County, according to the National Park Service.

In a related proposal, Rep. John V. Tunney, D-38th District, candidate for the Democaratic nomination for the U.S. Senate, today proposed that Congress create a California Coastline Reyes National Seashore, the Los Padres National Forest along the Big Sur coast, ocean frontage at Vandenberg Air Force Base, the Channel Islands and the coast at Camp Pendleton.

Protestors Of War Win Draft Round

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today stripped draft boards of the power to speed up the induction of Vietnam War protestors.

Justice William O. Douglas, in a 5-3 decision, said the court had searched federal draft laws in vain for any clues that Congress desired to give draft boards this authority.

He said "it is a broad, roving authority, a type of administrative absolutism not congenial to our lawmaking traditions."

The only punitive power draft law provides, Douglas said, is prosecution of registrants who refuse to submit to induction orders.

Justices Hugo L. Black, William J. Brennan Jr., Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall supported the decision. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, Potter Stewart and John M. Harlan concurred in its effect on a Minnesota man but would have allowed local boards some of the authority the majority denied them.

The court ruled in the case of David Earl Gutknecht, 22, of Gaylord, Minn., whose draft call was accelerated when he turned in his draft card at an antiwar protest in Minneapolis in 1967.

In a separate, but related action the court agreed to hear the appeal of a Kentucky man who claims the draft discriminates against poor people by deferring college students.

Joseph Thomas Mulloy, 25, of Prestonsburg, a worker for the Southern Conference Educational Fund, also claimed in this case that his draft board improperly rejected his plea as a conscientious objector to wars.

Gutknecht refused to submit

Katharine Branson Discloses Plan For Formation Of Boys' School

The former Dominican Fathers Novitiate at 217 Laurel Grove Avenue in Kentfield is slated to become a boys' school affiliated with Katharine Branson School, perhaps next September.

Katharine Branson School today announced establishment of Mount Tamalpais School for Boys, to open with ninth through 11th grades and add the 12th grade in its second year of operation.

It will take over the Dominican property and will open classes next September if interest justifies that, otherwise in September 1971, announced William R. Kimball Jr., president of the board of trustees, and H. Leonard Richardson, headmaster.

The former novitiate has been used as a Dominican fathers' retreat for the past year. Only six priests are now in residence in the 45-room building, which could easily be converted to boarding school use.

The six will move to other institutions of the Dominican Order if the property passes to Katharine Branson School, one of the residents said.

The school has taken an option on the property. Its intention to exercise the option was shown by today's announcement, which followed an announcement to students at a Katharine Branson assembly on Friday.

The plan, as outlined by Kimball, calls for separate classes for boys and girls in ninth and 10th grades, with the 11th grade (and later 12th grade) classes of Kentfield and including Laurence B. Higbie and Mrs. Richard Gatterdam of Kentfield; John Chase, Mrs. James Eschen, George F. Jewett Jr., and Dr. Walter Way of Ross, and William Evers of San Francisco.

Final plans for the boys' school addition were made at a special board of directors meeting last Wednesday, which was attended by Katharine Fleming Branson of Carmel, 83-year-old founder of the school.

In announcing the plan, Kimball said it resulted from "nearly a decade of study and planning by faculty and trustee committees."

Richardson said the same basic policies applying to Katharine Branson School will apply to Mount Tamalpais School.

It will not be the first time there have been boys at Katharine Branson. When the school started 50 years ago, it included children down to kindergarten, and boys were admitted in the primary grades. The lower grades were discontinued in the 1930s, and for the past decade, Branson has been strictly a college-preparatory high school. being mostly co-educational. The two schools will share faculties.

Most of the co-educational classes will be conducted at the Katharine Branson School on Fernhill Avenue, Ross, but some may be held at the Mount Tamalpais School in Kentfield.

Richardson will be headmaster of both schools, but the boys' school will have its own resident principal.

Plans are to open with about 70 students at Mount Tamalpais School, expanding the enrollment to about 150—which is the present number of students at Katharine Branson.

A special advisory council for the boys' school has been formed, headed by Philip Brown.

Perot Will Give Cargo To North Viet Prisoners

NEW YORK (AP) — H. Ross Perot, the wealthy Texan who tried in vain to fly a cargo of gifts and supplies at Christmas to American prisoners in North Vietnam, said today he would give the cargo to North Vietnamese prisoners instead.

Perot who was refused permission by Hanoi to fly the cargo in, said in a television interview that the wives of American prisoners had asked him subsequently to give the medicine, drugs and clothes to enemy prisoners held in Laos and South Vietnam as a gesture of concern.

Perot appeared on NBC-TV's "Today."

The 39-year-old computer industrialist has offered to ransom American prisoners for $100 million in supplies, which he said he would donate or collect. There has been no response from Hanoi to the offer.

Most Inflationary Year Since 1951

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs continued rising sharply in December and rounded out 1969 with a 6.1 per cent increase in prices for the year. It was the most inflationary year since 1951, the government reported Monday.

Sharp increases for food and housing were the major contributors to December's six-tenths of one per cent rise in the consumer price index, the Labor Department said.

Nixon Puts Final TouchesToBudget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has his fiscal 1971 budget "wrapped up" and it contains substantial cuts he ordered in the area of a billion dollars or more, the White House said today.

No formal figure was given. But presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said that before Nixon met with his Cabinet Tuesday and ordered the cuts, the budget was at "a level above $203 billion."

Ziegler added, however, that the further cuts the President ordered does not necessarily mean a widening of the surplus that Nixon wants. Tax revenues and other considerations may have been involved.

Skelton To Open Nixon Specials

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon will launch a series of theatrical "evenings at the White House" on Jan. 29 with comedian Red Skelton performing in the East Room.

"The President has expressed a long time interest in Mr. Skelton and his talent as a comedian and performer," Mrs. Nixon's press secretary, Constance Stuart, said today in announcing the show and the choice of Skelton as the inaugural performer. About 300 guests will be invited.

Mrs. Stuart said the Nixons expect to have similar shows once a month or every six weeks and will bring in stars from "the whole gamut of the lively arts."

Hit Marx Tomb

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard investigated underground political organizations today in a search for leads to vandals who tried Sunday to blow up the tomb of Karl Marx. Police said the 12-foot memorial was daubed with swastikas. Two large stones had been shattered in the blast and the nose of the large statue of Marx, co-author of the Communist manifesto, had been all but sawed off.

Lynch Decides He Will Not Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch announced today that he will not seek reelection as the state's chief law enforcement officer.

Lynch, 65, the only Democrat to survive the statewide Republican sweep in 1966 that toppled former Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, said he plans to return to private law practice here.

Actor Hal March Succumbs At 49

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Hal March, the dapper dark-haired master of ceremonies of television's "$64,000 Question" quiz show of the 1950s, died today. He was 49.

March, whose amiable ad lib style made him a favorite with TV audiences, succumbed at 4:15 a.m. at the University of California Medical Center.

He had undergone lung surgery in November 1969 at UCLA Medical Center and reentered the hospital earlier this month.

U-2 Spy Counsel Donovan Succumbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. James B. Donovan, 53, the lawyer who set up the trade of a Soviet spy for U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers and arranged the ransom of prisoners taken by Cuba in the Bay of Pigs invasion, died early today.

He was a resident of Brooklyn and died in Methodist Hospital there.

David McKay, 96, Head Of Mormon Church Dies

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI) — The world's nearly three million Mormons mourned today the death of their prophet, seer and revelator, President David O. McKay.

McKay, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints since April 9, 1951, died early Sunday in his Hotel Utah apartment. He was 96.

Death was attributed by his physician, Dr. Allen T. McFarlane, to acute congestion of the heart. He had suffered from heart and kidney failures for several months and lapsed into a coma shortly after midnight. He died at 6 a.m. Sunday.

His wife of 69 years, Emma, 95, was at his bedside as were most of their seven children.

A son, Robert, said McKay was without pain during his final hours and died "peacefully."

Messages of condolences poured into this city, world capital of Mormonism, from thousands of friends and acquaintances; from church leaders; and from President Nixon and former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

President Nixon said the "Mormon Church has been deprived of a distinguished and great leader and America has lost a foremost citizen and human being."

Johnson said McKay's "profound commitment to his fellow man and his faith inspired us to uplift our hopes and our sights toward a better world."

The LDS Church's Council of Twelve, which assumed leadership of the church upon McKay's death, was to meet today to arrange details of his funeral and to plan for the selection of his successor.

DAVID O. McKAY
Leader of three million

Tentative plans call for funeral services to be noon Thursday in the Salt Lake Tabernacle with burial in the Salt Lake City cemetery.

Informed sources said the council probably will meet Jan. 29 to pick a new president and the most likely candidate is Joseph Fielding Smith, president of the Council of Twelve and its senior member. His father, Joseph F. Smith, was sixth president of the church and his grandfather, Hyram Smith, was the brother of Joseph Smith, the prophet, founder and first president of the church.

Brigham Young, McKay and others presided over the council at the time they were elevated to the presidency.

But Smith, at 93, has been in failing health and the council could pass over him for a younger man. Harold B. Lee, 70, is the council's second man in seniority.

McKay was sustained as the ninth prophet, seer, and revelator of the church on April 9, 1951, five days after the death of president George Albert Smith.

He guided the church through its greatest period of growth with membership more than doubling from one million to 2.8 million and the number of temples built or under construction also doubling, from eight to 16.

But in recent months, he saw the church come under increasing attack for its doctrine which bars Negroes from attaining priesthood—a rank Mormon youths attain at the age of 12 and a necessary step for future leadership in the church.

Last fall Stanford University broke athletic competition with Mormon-owned Brigham Young University because of that doctrine and 14 black athletes were kicked off the University of Wyoming football squad when they protested a game with BYU.

But in a letter to various church officers a nonth ago, the LDS first presidency reaffirmed its doctrine on Negroes, holding it was a matter of religion. McKay and his counselors at the same time reaffirmed their belief in the constitutionally guaranteed civil rights of all races.

McKay was confined to a wheelchair and had difficulty with his speech in recent years, but he remained active as leader of the church, meeting frequently with his counselors and the council of twelve.

On his 95th birthday, he observed: "I love life. I think it's a joy to live in this age."

He and Emma Ray Riggs were married in the Salt Lake Temple in 1901 and had seven children. All but one are living.

Election, Talk On Tolls Slated

Officers for 1970 will be elected and installed at the annual meeting of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association Thursday at 8 p.m. at the clubhouse. This week's meeting of the association was postponed, vice-president Merritt A. Robinson retorted.

Nominees are: Robinson for president; Charles C. Swensen, vice-president; Hilton J. Simon, treasurer; Irene Wise, recording secretary and Pearl Fuller, corresponding secretary. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor, Robinson said.

The Golden Gate bridge toll increase will be discussed at 9 p.m. by Dean N. Meyer, bridge director and mayor of Mill Valley and an unnamed representative of the Golden Gate Commuters Association, a newly formed organization opposed to increasing the bridge toll.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Manson Shaves

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies report that Charles Manson, the accused mastermind of the seven Tate-LaBianca murders, has shaved off his heavy, dark beard.

Deputies said Manson, 35, removed the beard this weekend under the close supervision of guards. They said he requested a razor blade and told them he had always been clean-shaven until he was jailed last year in Independence.

He reportedly told them the Independence jail had no shaving facilities. He was held there on stolen car charges prior to his transfer to the County Jail here to face charges in the Tate case.

Manson's hair, meanwhile, remains shoulder length.

No Comment

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., says he will not comment on his Moscow trip or talks with North Vietnamese representatives until he confers with State Department officials.

McCarthy, here for a weekend political fund raising dinner before going to Hawaii for a vacation, said he would speak on the recent trip after being cleared by the State Department.

He later attended a dinner for Rep. George Brown, D-Calif., a Senate hopeful for the seat now held by Republican George Murphy.

Crew Rescued

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The tanker Esso Boston early today rescued 30 men who had abandoned the burning freighter SS Thelisis in the Gulf of Mexico 180 miles southeast of New Orleans, the Coast Guard said.

The tanker arrived at the flaming 546-foot cargo vessel 30 minutes after it radioed for help, a Coast Guard spokesman said. The tanker picked up the men, who had taken to life boats.

No one was reported hurt.

A Coast Guard helicopter crew said the fire appeared to have started in the engine room and then spread to the rear of the ship and the superstructure.

Captain Acquitted

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — A court-martial today acquitted Marine Capt. Robert W. Poolaw, 31, of Anadarko, Okla., on a charge of murdering a Vietnamese prisoner of war.

Poolaw, an American Indian, sat through most of the 6½-hour trial with his head bowed but broke into a broad grin when the verdict was announced.

The captain, who holds the Bronze Star and about 10 other combat medals, had pleaded innocent to the charge of shooting a Vietnamese captured during an operation last Aug. 11 in the Que Son mountains south of Da Nang.

Witnesses identified the dead man as a North Vietnamese prisoner of war.

Prosecution witnesses said the prisoner was taken to a clearing along a jungle trail and that Poolaw ordered his men to leave him alone with the man. The witnesses told of hearing a shot which they said sounded like it came from a .45-caliber pistol.

Only one of the witnesses claimed to have seen the killing.

Driver Treated

Linda Marie Constance Sexton, 22, of 1564 Fourth Street, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a nose injury, shock and neck pains after her car struck a railing on the San Rafael viaduct at 9:25 a.m. Saturday, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Tunnel Finished

SAN BERNARDINO (UPI)—The four-mile San Bernardino Tunnel, part of California's vast master plan for water distribution, was completed this weekend when the last section of granite was dynamited.

The tunnel is designed to bring water from Northern California to the San Bernardino Valley by 1972.

The tunnel was blasted through Job's Peak from Cedar Springs to Devil Canyon just north of here. The final blast came Saturday, with Assemblyman C. Jerry Lewis, R-Hyland, pushing the button that blew the last remaining rock free of the end of the tunnel.

At South Pole

The flight took five hours and 20 minutes.

Hangovers Costly

LONDON (UPI)—The National Council on Alcoholism said Sunday hangovers cost Britain $600 million a year in lost work. The council said more than 250,000 workers fail to show up for their jobs each Monday because of hangovers.

Call Sounded For Decent Environment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, charging that man may pollute himself into disaster by the end of the century, called today for a constitutional amendment guaranteeing that "every person has an inalienable right to a decent environment."

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery today, the Wisconsin Democrat said "the crisis of man's environment is the biggest challenge facing mankind."

As part of protecting man's right to clean air and water, Nelson listed besides a constitutional amendment several other proposals, including development of pollution-free automobiles, elimination of nonreturnable bottles, cans and jars.

The pollution legacy of the past, Nelson said, "adds up each year to 172 million tons of smoke and fumes, 7 million junked cars, 20 million tons of paper, 48 billion cans and 28 billion bottles."

It also adds up to "a growing fear that what the scientists have been saying is all too true, that man is on the way to defining the terms of his own extinction," Nelson stated.

There is, however, a new public awareness of the pollution threat, the senator said, that may be the key to providing a decent existance for people.

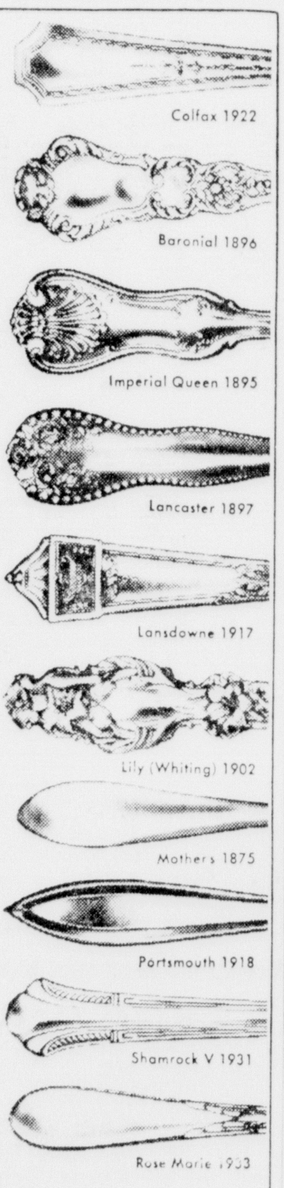

"But, lest anyone be misled or caught unaware," he went on, ". . . a victory will take decades and 10s of billions of dollars. Just to control pollution, it will take $275 billion by the year 2000 . . . equivalent to the Defense expenditure for the next four years.

In his speech, which was full of doomsday quotes from scientists to comic strip characters and folk singers, Nelson also proposed elimination of all hard pesticides; development of anti-pollution detergent standards and installation of antipollution devices on jet aircraft.

Statistics indicate 30 per cent of pigs born die before reaching market age.

Panel Backs Quick Use Of Auditorium

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs, in two letters to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, has taken up cudgels on two controversial issues, Fair-Marin and County Administrator Alan Bruce's report on commissions and committees.

The first letter, signed by Mrs. Alfred Azevedo, chairman of the council, praises "the imaginative concept" of Fair-Marin. She asks the supervisors to "get the Veterans Memorial Auditorium into active use as quickly as possible and hold the first county fair at the new fairgrounds in 1971."

The letter praises Harold Stockstad, fair president, who has been criticized by the supervisors as lacking leadership. The council called him "the driving force in the Fair's development," and asks the board to give Fair-Marin "a reasonable time to accomplish its objectives."

The council also expressed general agreement with Bruce's six recommendations for revitalizing county committees and commissions and calls for a seventh, that the supervisors should make "every effort to substitute citizens for supervisor members" except where supervisors are essential to a group's function, such as Associated Bay Area Governments.

The City-County Services Committee, a target of the Bruce report, was taken to task by the council for neglecting residents of unincorporated areas in its concern for city dwellers.

A suggestion by Bruce that the Marin Emergency Medical Care Committee be absorbed by the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin was endorsed by the council.

A recommendation that supervisors endorse separation, "in both membership and staff," of the Marin County Housing Authority and the redevelopment agency was included in the second letter, also signed by Mrs. Azevedo. "We think it would be helpful if one or more members of each of these agencies has background in construction or housing development," the letter adds.

The council agreed with Bruce that the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission has not been as effective as it should have been in recent years. The council suggests the commission proceed with the master plan for county parks and recreation and promote means of financing park purchases.

The council disagrees with the county administrator in his recommendation that the Marin County Personnel Committee no longer spend so much time "overseeing personnel policies." The council believes the committee must serve this function "until the county creates an independent personnel department."

Bruce's view that an appointee to the Marin County Planning Commission should reflect basic planning viewpoints of the supervisor who selects him, is endorsed by the Civic Affairs Council. But the council indicated it "balks at the notion that planners be removed without hesitation when supervisorial elections . . . change the balance of opinion on the board.

"We recommend that changes in the planning commission continue to come about . . . as terms expire," the letter states, adding it rejects Bruce's suggestion that the commission limit itself to deciding land use.

"We think the commission can provide an excellent resource . . . in the development of studies concerning the planning needs of Marin," the council said.

Waldo Point Suspect Denies LSD Charge

Patrick George McHale of Gate 5, Waldo Point, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing 102 LSD pills Aug. 8 when arrested at Plaza del Vina in Sausalito.

A preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 3.

GOING ABROAD — Dana Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Howard of Belvedere, a junior at Redwood High School, will leave tomorrow to spend a year in Australia as an American Field Service exchange student.

Officer Injured

Petaluma officer James Gebhardt, 27, was treated Saturday at Hillcrest Hospital for a head cut suffered when his patrol car collided with a car at D Street and El Rose Drive. The California Highway Patrol lacked details of the accident.

Juvenile Treatment Before Rights Group

That question will be thrashed out at a meeting of the police-community relations committee of the Human Rights Commission at the Civic Center Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. in the planning commission chambers.

Speakers will include Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer; Lt. Harvey Teague, commander of the sheriff's juvenile bureau, and attorney Robert B. McCreadie, who will discuss legal representation for juveniles.

Bella Aaron, chairman of the police-community relations committee, will preside. Law enforcement officials and members of the five municipal human rights commissions in the county have been invited to the meeting.

The discussion is an outgrowth of a series of questions posed last November by Roger J. Fleischmann, chairman of the Mill Valley Human Rights Commission.

Fleischmann urged the county commission to investigate the Juvenile Hall and court, with emphasis on whether juveniles are getting adequate legal advice and proper detention procedures are being followed.

Fleischmann also suggested that the county commission establish some type of in-service training program for teachers which would be available to school districts in the county on a voluntary basis.

He said racial imbalance such as in the Sausalito School District should get closer attention. "The commission should look into these problems, if it has not already done so, with a view to determining whether the imbalance which exists can, or should, be remedied," declared Fleischmann.

"Specifically, I would like to see the commission investigate the possibility of merging the Sausalito and Mill Valley elementary school districts."

Library Talk

Dorothy P. Tolpegin, teacher and librarian, will give a free talk directed to parents of young children at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 29 in the Mill Valley Public Library. Her topic will be, "Books, Your Child and You."

A Wrestling Match Leads To Booking

A 26-year old San Francisco man ran afoul of the law twice during the weekend, starting with a wrestling match with California Highway Patrol officers.

Vince Francis Courtney of 2330 14th Avenue was booked by the California Highway Patrol Saturday on suspicion of resisting officers, walking on the freeway and being under the influence of alcohol in a public place.

Officers said Courtney was standing on the Francisco Boulevard offramp of southbound Highway 101 at San Quentin Wye at 10:05 a.m. carrying a six-pack of beer in a paper bag.

When told to leave the freeway, he refused, and wrestled with two officers, who subdued him with the aid of passing motorists, the highway patrol reported.

Courtney was booked at Marin County Jail, posted $625 bail and was scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Saturday night he was booked by San Rafael police on suspicion of being drunk in public and was back in jail with bail set at $35.

New Name For Observatories

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Palomar and Mt. Wilson observatories, the two largest in the United States, have a new name: Hale Observatories, in honor of their founder, astronomer George Ellery Hale.

The new name and appointment of Dr. J. Beverly Oke as the observatories' associate director was announced Sunday by California Institute of Technology, which operates the observatories jointly with Carnegie Institution of Washington, D.C.

Palomar Mountain, 40 miles northeast of San Diego, is the site of a 200-inch telescope, the world's largest. Hale planned the telescope and observatory in the 1920s. The observatory opened in 1947, nine years after Hale's death at age 70.

The astronomer oversaw the building of the 100-inch telescope and observatory on Mt. Wilson near Pasadena in 1904-1919. He was also one of the founders of Caltech and Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago.

to induction, was convicted and was sentenced to four years in prison. Mulloy also refused to go into the Army and was sentenced to five years in prison.

The decision still leaves unsettled the question whether a draft board may reclassify war protestors. Four justices, headed by Douglas, evidently take the view boards do not have this power under the law. The four others, including White, may disagree.

The issue is still pending before the court in the case of Timothy J. Breen, 21, of Westport, Conn., who was reclassified 1A after he gave his draft card to a Boston clergyman in a 1967 antiwar protest.

Gutknecht was already 1A. The local board acted against him by putting him ahead of others in that category.

judge five years later, he was 38 and the youngest man in the country to hold such a post.

His promotion to the circuit court was opposed by the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, a coalition of more than 100 civil rights organizations. But the nomination was approved by the Senate without debate or dissent.

Carswell has participated in one major decision while a member of the appellate court. That was the ruling of the 5th Circuit granting the Nixon administration's request for delay of school desegregation in 33 Mississippi districts. The Circuit Court's ruling was unanimously reversed by the Supreme Court last Oct. 29.

GERMANY

bricht said the treaty of diplomatic recognition he had proposed to Bonn was in accord with the communique issued after the Warsaw Pact summit conference in Moscow last month.

East Germany, he contended, has the support of its Warsaw Pact allies for its demands for recognition of the "unalterable realities": the existence of an internationally recognized East German state and the borders agreed to at the Potsdam Conference, particularly the Oder-Neisse border between East Germany and Poland.

He reiterated that full diplomatic relations between East and West Germany are not a maximum demand but a minimum demand.

He kept open the possibility of talks on renunciation of the use of force, as Brandt proposed, but underscored that such an agreement must be accompanied by diplomatic recognition.

"If the Bonn government really wants to renounce force against the GDR," he said, "then it must prove the seriousness of its intention by recognizing the GDR as a sovereign German state and by establishing equal, that is international, relations with it."

Gang Members Charged With Murder Attempt

SAN MATEO (UPI)—Charges of attempted murder, kidnaping and criminal conspiracy have been filed against six members of the Dtath Riders gang.

The six were held on $20,000 bail Sunday Following a wild auto chase that ended in an attack on six teen-agers Saturday. One of the teen-agers, Michael Moore, 17, suffered knife wounds in the temple and right leg and was beaten on the head with chains.

According to San Mateo police, the incident occurred when the teen-agers drove by a bar where the six toughs were congregated in a parking lot.

A knife was thrown through the car window and it struck Moore in the temple. The gang members then jumped into a car and pursued the teen-agers in a wild chase that reached speeds up to 75 miles an hour.

The teen-agers finally stopped their car and tried to flee on foot, but were overtaken and beaten.

Chief Cahill And Bride In Mexico

STOCKTON (AP) — San Francisco Police Chief Thomas J. Cahill and Felipa de la Torre, widowed mother of Cahill's daughter-in-law, were married here over the weekend.

John Cahill acted as his father's best man and Jo Ann Cahill served her mother as matron of honor at the wedding Saturday at St. Luke's Catholic Church.

Cahill was widowed in 1968 after 30 years of marriage. Mrs. De La Torre's husband died many years ago.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Mexico.

Knife Suspect Picture In Files

The picture was obtained, he said Sunday, by a frame - by-frame analysis of a color motion picture taken during the Dec. 6 show.

Suspect Nabbed In Drug Probe

Stanley Alan Johnson, 21, of 825 Bodega Avenue, Petaluma, was arrested Saturday night on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Petaluma office James Gebhart said he had been informed that two men were selling marijuana in a restroom at the Boulevard Bowl, 1100 Petaluma Boulevard South.

No evidence was found that Johnson or his brother, David, 24, had been selling marijuana, but found a bag containing a leafy green substance believed to be marijuana in Stanley Johnson's possession. He was booked into the City Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Mental Health Board To Meet

How mental health services should be organized will be discussed at a public meeting of the Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

The issue will be discussed by Dr. Donald Wilson, director of the Community Mental Health Center and Dr. Leon Wanerman, Director of Marin County Community Mental Services.

Setting of a series of deadlines for new and changing proposals from community agencies to be included in the annual budget will also be discussed.

WAR

the drop was not related to the withdrawal of 50,000 troops scheduled to start next month, but was the result of replacements from the United States and troops being sent home after completion of their tours of duty being temporarily out of balance.

President Nguyen Van Thieu's reorganization of South Vietnam's military commands gained momentum with the disclosure of more changes and the promotion of 10 colonels to brigadier general.

NEW FORCES LOOK

The reorganization is designed to give the armed forces a new and more aggressive leadership of young, hard-driving officers.

Sources said that among the 10 colonels picked for promotion were Tran Van Hai' director of the national police who deal with Viet Cong political agents and saboteurs, and Do Kien Nhieu, the mayor of Saigoc.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Vinh Nghi, commander of the 21st Infantry Division in the Mekong Delta, is replacing Minh as commander of the Saigon district, sources said.

The shift eases Lt. Gen. Lu Mong Lan out of the Central Highlands command, where he is said to have been inefficient and lack luster.

There was no immediate word of a new assignment for Lan, or who would replace Nghi as commander of the 21st Division, rated among the better of South Vietnam's 10 infantry divisions.

Marinites Will Help Plear For Aid To Biafra

A Sausalito woman and a San Rafael doctor, concerned with the plight of five million reportedly starving Biafrans, flew to Washington, D.C. today to seek an audience with President Richard M. Nixon.

Deidre Silverman, chairman of the Bay Area Committee to save Biafran Children, and Dr. John F. Catchpool, who recently returned from the war-torn country, were among five Bay Area residents who traveled to the capitol.

The delegation will meet with senators and representatives to urge immediate action to alleviate the current relief crisis in the tiny country which fell to Nigeria last week.

Mrs. Silverman has spearheaded Bay Area efforts to aid the Biafrans for more than a year. Dr. Catchpool spent six months in the country, providing medical care during the seige and war.

Special Session For Gallinas

Gallinas Village Community Services District directors will meet in special session at 8:30 p.m. Thursday to plan the development of Rosal-Adrian Park into a community play area, according to secretary Marguerite F. Clark.

The directors, headed by president Herbert C. Belben Jr., plan to install a covered promenade at the park, with planting along the edges to serve as a screen for homes that back up to the park. A drainage and irrigation system are also planned for the park.

Last year, the district directors met on the third Thursdays, but this year regular meetings will be held on the second Thursdays at 8 p.m. in Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church on Adrian Way.

Education Board Hears Dissatisfied Parents

The community, administration, teachers and school board share the blame for current shortcomings in education, the San Rafael Board of Education has been told.

"A lot of we taxpayers are tired of flowery phrases," W. H. Ransdall of 217 Ridgewood Drive told the board at its special meeting Saturday. "We want some action."

Asked to be specific, Ransdall asked to be put on the next board agenda when his group, Concerned Parents, "will have detailed suggestions."

Board members supported in general terms board member Carl J. Brown's December attack on permissiveness and lack of discipline in schools, but most of the discussion came from the audience of 25 after Brown spoke further on the subject.

Brown said he included teachers and administrators, not just students, in his indictment. Teachers, administrators and the school board have a commitment to the community, Brown said.

He told of one teacher who told him "I couldn't care less what the community thinks." Some teachers, he said, don't agree with existing school rules and so don't try to enforce them.

"Maybe there's a place for them in another system," Brown said. He said teachers should try to get rules changed if they disagree, but abide by them while they are in force.

Administrators, too, must work within the framework of regulations, Brown said. As for the board, "maybe it's time the school board should make some demands of its own" instead of merely receiving demands of others, he said.

Brown said he had been called a "crew-cut militaristic coach," among other things, for his statement in December.

One parent said he was promised that his son would be transferred out of an experimental class, but the transfer was never made.

Donald R. Wellington, member of a citizens committee preparing reports for the board, said he had no objection to his children being exposed to a particular philosophy, "but the other side of the coin should be given."

School policy says all sides should be given, Board President Herman L. Childress said.

Robert Agnew, industrial arts teacher at San Rafael High School, announced his support for Brown and said absenteeism is a major problem. Nothing is done to students cutting class, he said.

Parents should be advised of truancy, Childress said. "The parent has as much responsibility as the school" to keep the student in school, he said.

The district should prepare a brief extract from the board's policy book, board member Paul L. Jones said, and distribute it so teachers and the public know where their responsibilities lie. The policy book is "this thick," Jones said, gesturing, and so one knows everything in it.

The community must share the blame for school problems, said Jane Levinsohn, a volunteer school aide. She told of volunteers calling parents about truancy only to find that "many parents don't want to be bothered."

She said social studies teachers tried to get the community to a discussion meeting but fewer than 50 attended. "The community is willing to tell the board what's wrong with teachers," she said, "but they're not interested in hearing what teachers have to say."

The community, Wellington said, feels that its duty ends with electing a board to run things and paying its taxes.

One mother, Mrs. Charles Frederick, rapped San Rafael High School Principal Alan Ellsberg. Moving into the district last year, she said, she was disturbed about dress codes, drugs and pets allowed at school.

Ellsberg, she said, told her there had been only one case of drugs at the school during the year. When she told him of others, she said, Ellsberg replied "Mrs. Frederick, if your daughter is not happy in this situation, maybe she would be happier in a private school."

She also objected to a class her daughter attended taught by Angelos Douvos who, she said "tried to break down student morality with four-letter words . . . sex and everything else."

The board agreed to resume the discussion at the Jan. 27 meeting, when the report of the citizens advisory committee will be taken up. Only the general report will be studied Jan. 27, the board agreed, with a subcommittee report on district goals to be considered separately.

Subcommittee reports have also been prepared on public relations, community planning and staff and salaries.

Young Brody Claims He's A Billionaire

NEW YORK (UPI)—Michael James Brody, who now says he will distribute $100 billion, or maybe an even trillion, also promises a plan for peace in Vietnam to President Nixon plus cures for cancer and all other diseases.

Brody, whose long red hair and hip clothing belie his claimed wealth, insists he will give away money to anyone who needs it.

Before a national television audience on the Ed Sullivan Show Sunday night, Brody, 21, played a 12-string guitar and sang a ballad written by Bob Dylan, "You Ain't Goin' Nowhere." Then he proclaimed again:

"I'm worth 100 billion dollars. Does that stagger your mind? In fact, that was yesterday. I might be worth a trillion today."

Crowds of people, many of whom said they hoped for a gift from Brody, mobbed the college dropout philanthropist as he entered and left the theater. "You're killing me," he shouted before police hustled him into a car and he drove away.

Inside the theater earlier, Brody, who appeared flushed and excited, told reporters he would continue the giveaways if his public, including those who have picked his pocket and pulled his wedding ring from his hand in the past few days, will stop crowding him and pulling his hair.

"Don't be so greedy," he said. "Give me a chance. Give me some time."

He made promises to bestow massive sums upon North Vietnam in order to end the war and called on Nixon to meet him this afternoon at Kennedy International Airport here to discuss poverty and world peace.

The President will be busy in Washington, however, preparing hisk State of the Union message.

"I have cures for all diseases," Brody said. "I have a cure for cancer."

He promised to disclose it at the airport during a news conference.

Brody's bride of two weeks, Renee, a slim woman with long brown hair, stayed near him on stage and through the crowds. They exchanged loving glances frequently.

A reporter for the New York Times, who traveled to Puerto Rico with the Brodys over the weekend, reported today the young heir conceived his plan to give away his money while he was "tripped out on drugs."

"What a joke I've pulled on the world!" the newspaper reported Brody said. "They think I'm Jesus Christ."

The report added Brody met Renee when she came to Scarsdale, N.Y., where he lived in a rented $80,000 house, "to sell Michael and some of his friends some hashish."

As Brody escalated estimations of his wealth Sunday, circumspect statements from his bankers were less dazzling.

Officials of the Continental Bank of Chicago, who would not discuss Brody's actual net worth, said the initial reports he had inherited $25 million were a "gross exaggeration." The money came from Brody's maternal grandfather, John F. Jelke, the oleomargarine manufacturer, who died in 1966. The estate, filed for probate, was said to be worth $6,881,000, divided among several beneficiaries.

Air Passenger Traffic Over 2 Million Mark

OAKLAND (UPI) — Airline passenger traffic at Oakland Airport topped the two million mark in 1969, an increase of more than 18 per cent over the previous year.

The count rose from 1,818,220 passengers in 1968 to 2,146,800 in 1969. And the record is seven times the meager total of 312,884 of 1962, which was the airport's first year of operation.

With the increase in traffic, an expansion of the passenger terminal is being planned and a new air cage center is being added.

Air freight was up 47.3 per cent in 1969, over 1968; air mail, up 23.1 per cent; and air express, up 1.4 per cent.

By comparison, San Francisco International Airport carried more than 15 million passengers last year.

Major league baseball increased the economy of Montreal by $25-million, according to a report of the expansion club, the Expos.

Weather Probe Shot Postponed

(UPI)—The launch of a Tiros M weather satellite, nicknamed the "Space Bus," was postponed seven hours before its launch time early today after a guidance system failure was discovered.

Vandenberg officials said the launch would be postponed until no sooner than Wednesday. The guidance failure was discovered in the first stage of the satellite's booster rocket.

The "Space Bus" was designed to provide greater coverage of the world's weather at less cost than previous systems.

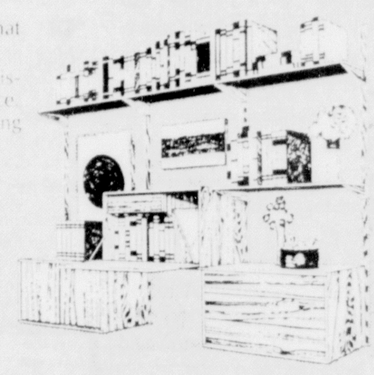

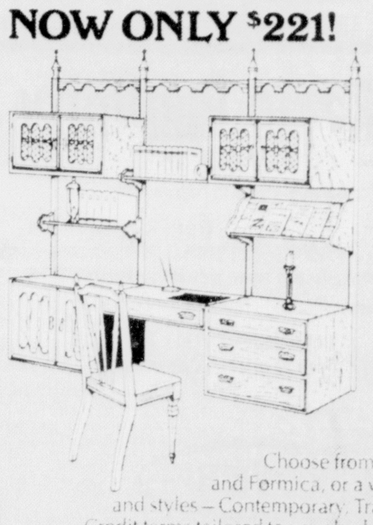

Male butterflies, in their determination to possess a selected area, have been known to attack all invaders, including small birds.

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain
Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases
New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.
In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

ART REVIEW

A Personal, Visual Trip Via Drawings

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Ada Garfinkel can draw. It is not just lines on paper but really in the fullest contemporary sense of the word.

Her small group of felt pen brilliants which hang so comfortably amidst the pots, weaving and other crafts at Sausalito's Storm Center, are like glowing bits of testimony to the individual. Each one is so personal it's like a visual trip through an inquisitive and unencumbered mind.

Images linger of this cellular structure with striations housed within white circles in the artist's "Lunar Series." The bold stripings in her seasonal themes and the delicate architecture, the deep rust, navy and olive against unusual pastels in her "Nova Series," are all part of the vision Mrs. Garfinkel shares so personally yet which are too individually complex to describe more closely.

Mrs. Garfinkel's drawing show continues at the Storm Center, 2631 Bridgeway through March 14.

Through Feb. 10 there is another exhibit of graphics worth seeing at Musee d'Art International in San Rafael. Composed of recent French masters such as Renoir, Braque, Dufy, Picasso and others, the exhibit was arranged "in close association with M. Jean-Claude Bellier, art expert for the French Government."

And there is a third show to mention. Through this month, the Marin Society of Artists, at the Art and Garden Center, Ross, is presenting a new members' show which turns out to be a dreary continuation of MSA's familiar and least innovative fare.

As in any show, there are exceptions. And a few here which raise the level are Carol Herschleb's big, simple stoneware pot which has importance, Chris Klopf's excited, happy, trip-like paintings, Brent Bushnel's garish, hard, figure forms and his cosmic print, Jean Stein's sandy toadstool called "Moon Pot," some of the jewelry and Charlotte Patera's stitchery, Elizabeth Cleveland's mostly black and white painting and Susan Gomberg's sandy hot colored one.

These, plus a few others, provide the show's "moments." But in this weary sort of show there just aren't enough of them to generate any overall excitement much less be convincing as new talent, new names, new horizons or new anything else.

Court Rejects Challenge To Flag-Wearing Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court turned back today a challenge to the right of states to punish people for wearing the American flag.

The court, by a 7-1 vote, dismissed the appeal of a California man prosecuted under state law for wearing the flag as an article of clothing.

However, Justices John M. Harlan and William J. Brennan Jr., said they voted for dismissal because the case did not present a proper vehicle for considering the constitutional issues involved. Justice William O. Douglas said the case should have been heard.

The Californian, Alfred Tennyson Cowgill, was arrested in Hermosa Beach for wearing the flag on election day in 1968. He said there was no evidence he said anything violent or threatened anyone.

Cowgill was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 or serve 25 days in the Los Angeles county jail. He also was placed on probation for a year.

The appeal to the Supreme Court said: "The very act of wearing a flag-vest is an expression of the view that a flag should not be regarded as a sacred symbol incapable of a mundane use as an article of clothing.

"This is an expression of opposition not to that which the flag symobilzes i.e. the government and the nation, but of opposition to the concept that any bolt of cloth must itself be regarded as 'sacred'."

The California law makes it a misdemeanor to publicly mutilate, deface, defile or trample on the American flag.

MUSIC REVIEW

Departure From Bach And Handel

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Last night's concert of the combined College of Marin Community Chorus and Collegiate Chorale in the Fine Arts Theater was an extraordinary departure from Dr. S. Drummond Wolff's Bach-Handel forte. The result, two different degrees of success.

Programming two long sacred works of the great romantics, Bruckner and Rossini, might have been monotonous had not the Bruckner Grosse Messe in F Minor and the Rossini Stabat Mater been so very different in style. The Great Mass was grandiose and overpowering, whereas the Stabat Mater, though a liturgical hymn, was filled with Rossini's gorgeous operatic bel canto.

UNEVEN BRUCKNER

The Bruckner Mass was disappointing for a number of reasons, the main one a lack of shadings in tempo and dynamics. It was consistently too fast and too loud for the most part, due to far too heavy tympani and too brilliant brass in the orchestra of 28 musicians, so that the approximately 150 voices were overwhelmed even when singing at full volume. And the four soloists when singing with the chorus and orchestra could not be heard well at times.

Part of the reason for this was the necessity of placing the orchestra on stage in front of the chorus instead of in a pit. The trumpets and trombones were very good, and brilliance was in order, but somehow their volume should have been adapted to the situation.

Neither the orchestra nor the chorus was at its best in this first work either.

It was a far different story with the Stabat Mater, in which the four soloists were heard to advantage for the first time, partly because of Rossini's mastery of vocal solo writing, and partly because they were frequently the focus of attention in solo, duet or quartet.

A HIGH POINT

One of the high points of the evening for me was the solo of contralto-mezzo Donna Petersen, whom I have heard many times, including at the San Francisco Opera. Her warm, rich tone and ability to sing long sustained notes while controlling volume and other technical accomplishments attested to her high professional level.

Meg Broughton's clear ringing soprano, also familiar, had the capacity to soar above the chorus and orchestra and hold its own with the brass. New to me were Paul Raabe's mellifluous, strong tenor and Eugene Bartlett, whose bass had too much vibrato and occasionally did not project well. On the whole the four voices blended well in quartet.

In this same work the chorus was more musical and the orchestra smoother, and the last two choruses were the other highlights of the evening for me.

The singers showed top form in their a cappella rendition of the next to last chorus, with all the fine shadings one could ask for, and their technical agility in florid finale was superb.

Alden Gilchrist was the able organist who added just the right amount of support to the sonority without becoming obtrusive and adding too many decibels, as an organist can so easily do.

Tunney To Bypass Kennedy's Help

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rep. John V. Tunney, who wants to be California's next U. S. senator, says he won't ask his old friend Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts to campaign for him this year.

One reason, Tunney said Sunday, is that Kennedy himself is up for re-election this year and thus will be busy. Another, he said, is that California voters don't like outsiders telling them how to vote.

Police Clear Street At I-J Plant

San Rafael police were called out Saturday to clear Julia Street between A and B streets, blocked for a time by demonstrators from throughout the Bay Area who showed up to support printers striking the Independent-Journal.

One man from Contra Costa County—Robert Stephen Tanner, 25, of San Pablo—was arrested on suspicion of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct as about 50 demonstrators sought to block the street to prevent movement of I-J circulation trucks.

The rally at its peak drew about 500 strike sympathizers from various Bay Area counties in response to an appeal for support, issued by striking San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21.

The rally, scheduled from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., did not begin to disperse till about 3:30 p.m. and was generally orderly till the attempt to block the trucks. All tires on the cars of three Independent-Journal employees, however, were punctured, according to police reports. A side window was smashed on one delivery truck.

Eighteen truckloads of newspapers, with a driver, helper and guard in attendance, left the area and all were out by 4 p.m.

According to police, Tanner was arrested when he charged a line of policemen trying to clear Julia street. Tanner, police said, attempted to grab Police Sgt. James W. Carlton's night stick, and spat on patrol car windows as he was taken to jail.

He was released from the County Jail on $625 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

It was not known whether Tanner was among the members of other unions, University of California students or other groups from out of county supporting the San Francisco local Saturday.

Suspect Booked On Probe Of Marijuana

A Cotati man was arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession of marijuana after jailers found a marijuana cigarette in his pocket while booking him on suspicion of drunken driving at the Sonoma County Jail.

Ronald Paul Moniz, 28, of 9527 Old Redwood Highway, was booked into the jail for arraignment today in Central Sonoma Municipal Court. Cotati police had stopped his car on Gravenstein Highway at Helman Lane.

REACH OUT FOR FOOD — Hands reach out to grab bread being handed out at Onitsha, Nigeria. Onitsha is a market town situated on the northern edge of the Biafran Enclave. It has been in federal hands for nearly two years and recently has had a large infulx of refugees from the former rebel areas. (AP wirephoto from London).

Britishers Find No Biafran Genocide

LAGOS (AP) — Lord Hunt, the adviser to British Prime Minister Harold Wilson on Nigerian war relief, returned today from the last strongholds of what used to be Biafra and reported he found no evidence of genocide, sources close to him said.

An informant said that during a three-day tour Lord Hunt visited Owerri, Biafra's last major town; Orlu, the last rebel government seat; Uli, the location of the jungle airstrip that kept Biafra alive with supplies from the outside; Aba and other places.

The British representative said the general refugee situation was "encouraging" and the refugee problem of a far smaller scale than some had predicted. He said thousands of refugees in apparently good condition were returning home.

Hunt also reported that he saw Nigerian federal soldiers feeding refugees from the Ibo tribe.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant adder Lagos to a tour of African nations and arriver Sunday to discuss ways the world organization could aid reconstruction after the 30-month civil war.

Thant said he was satisfied with the federal government's treatment of the refugees. "I am convinced that the process of national reconciliation has started very auspiciously," he said.

The secretary-general said he had spoken with Henrik Beer, head of the League of Red Cross Societies, who had just returned from a visit to what was Biafra. Thant said Beer had found "no hint of even the slightest remotest evidence of violence or mistreatment of Ibos by federal forces."

He said Beer found Ibos and federal soldiers fraternizing in a climate "much more genial" than in Europe after World War II.

Thant was to have flown to Port Harcourt today for a first-hand look at the relief work, but he decided he did not have time.

Two planes took 80 foreign newsmen to Port Harcourt Sunday for the first press visit to what once was Biafra since the war ended last Monday. The takeoff was delayed eight hours, and police with dogs and clubs were called to hold back the newsmen as they staged a demonstration at the air terminal here just before Thant arrived.

Officials said 300 prisoners of war were released at Abakaliki, in East Central State, as the beginning of a general amnesty for Ibo tribesmen "misled into rebellion." Others would be freed later, the government said.

Signs of peace were starting to appear in Lagos. Street lights were switched on Sunday night for the first time in 2½ years, and people drove through the streets just to look at the spectacle. The sound of drums was heard again. They had been banned for years for fear they might be used to transmit harmful messages.

Retired Black Army General Sees New Challenge In Cleveland Job

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, retiring as the nation's highest-ranking black military officer, says he decided to leave the Air Force because of the "great challenges" posed through his appointment as Cleveland's public safety director.

Davis, 57, was named to the $24,000-a-year job by Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes. As public safety director, Davis will head the city's police and fire departments.

Stokes, the first Negro to be elected mayor of a major U.S. city, said Davis will have "full authority to do whatever is necessary to stop the alarming increase in crime" in Cleveland.

Retirement ceremonies for Davis are scheduled Thursday at MacDill Air Force Base, where he is the second-ranking officer. His appointment in Cleveland is effective Feb. 1.

"I could have stayed in the Air Force another 18 months before being forced out by law," the 28-year military man said in an interview Sunday.

Davis, a native of Washington, D.C., grew up in Cleveland and attended public schools there. After one year at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, he entered West Point as one of two black cadets. He graduated 35th in a class of 276 in 1936.

His color is certain to make a difference in the new job, the general said.

"I hope I can be highly effective no matter if I am a Negro or not. I am an individual who has certain things to offer, no matter what my color," Davis said.

Correction of Cleveland's problems "will take time and money," Davis said.

"The heart of Cleveland's crime problems are the living conditions in the center of the city. These fundamental causes must be eliminated before there can be drastic improvements," he said.

Daniel Joe O'Brien of San Rafael has pleaded innocent in Maing marijuana when arrested Jan. 9 in Mill Valley for a traffic violation. A preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 3.

Israeli Jets Pound Suez Canal Sector

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets attacked Egyptian army outposts, artillery and antiaircraft guns in the central sector of the Suez Canal today, military spokesmen said. They reported that all planes returned safely from the 40-minute raid.

Israel struck into the heartland of Egypt Sunday for the fourth time in two weeks, bombing "a large Egyptian military base" at Huckstep, 12 miles east of Cairo, and an equipment and ammunition storage area three miles from the industrial city of Helwan, the spokesmen said.

The Egyptian command acknowledged the attack at Huckstep, said the raiders did no damage, and claimed that Egyptian antiaircraft fire downed one Israeli Skyhawk and damaged another in the southern sector of the Suez Canal.

Israeli planes attacked last week within earshot of Cairo and Helwan, the latter the site of a billion-dollar steel complex partly financed by the Soviet Union. The plant is to begin operations soon and will be the biggest steel plant in Africa.

Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat met in Beirut with Maj. Gen. Jean Jimein, the new commander of the Lebanese army. Observers believe they are trying to prevent further deterioration of relations between the Lebanese government and the guerrillas operating against Israel from Lebanese territory.

The guerrillas have charged they are being denied freedom of movement and action against Israel because the Lebanese fear Israeli reprisals.

In Amman, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command reported that Arab guerrillas shelled an Israeli settlement south of the Dead Sea with heavy mortars for 90 minutes Sunday and also an Israeli army camp south of the Dead Sea.

A spokesman said guerrillas also attacked Israeli vehicles, patrols and advanced outposts in the northern Jordan Valley, inflicting heavy losses on the Israelis. He said one guerrilla was killed.

Park Commissioners Against Fairfax Annexing Deer Park

Fairfax should not annex Deer Park, the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission has recommended.

The commission voted 5-1 Saturday against proposed annexation after Commissioner David R. Seyler reported on ameting of city, Marin County and Fairfax School District officials.

Main reason the school district wants annexation, Seyler said, is for imporved police protection, but in recent months vandalism at Deer Park School has almost shopped. The school could contract for city police service as it does now for fire protection, commissioners agreed.

Dolores Dollahite, who favored annexation, warned that the county could develop Der Park as a regional park against the city's wishes if it is not brought under city control.

A regional park would triple traffic on narrow Porteous Avenue, Seyler said. He recommended the city not oppose creation of a regional park, but urge another access be developed.

The commission discussed use rules for city parks, but ended by dropping alist of proposed changes and let stand rules it passed a few weeks ago.

The discussion revolved about whether City Adminstrator Frances Lestanguet or the commission should have authority to let organized groups use city parks.

"I don't like the idea of people having to come before us to use a city park, Mrs. Dollahite said. The commission should set rules but let Mrs. Lestanguet administer them, she said.

Under the proposed rules, which now go to the city council, organized groups wanting to use the park would need commission approval.

Ready to make long-considered youth appointment to the commission, commissioners read applications of three 16-year-old high school students for a vacancy on the commission, but were divided on whether to recommend Joshua M. Roth, Edwin H. McGe III, or Judith L. Cummings.

The commission finally sent all three names to Mayor Robert M. Souza to choose from.

American, Trans-Caribbean Announce Plans To Merge

NEW YORK AP — American Airlines, the nation's second largest air carrier, and Trans-Caribbean Airways announced Sunday plans to merge.

The proposed $18-million merger is to be voted on by the boards of both airlines Wednesday. It also must be approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, stockholders of each company, and President Nixon, who has the final say when international routes are involved.

The plan calls for American to exchange 17½ shares of its stock, which closed at $25.75 Friday on the New York Stock Exchange, for each 100 shares of Trans-Caribbean stock, which closed at $5 on the American Exchange. The acquisition would involve only Trans-Caribbean's airline property and not such holding as D.C. Transit in Washington.

Trans-Caribbean operates scheduled flights between New York, Newark, Washington and San Juan, Puerto Rico; St. Croix and St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands; Port au Prince, Haiti and Aruba and Curacao in the Dutch Antilles.

American is transcontinental airline, serving 45 U.S. cities as well as Mexico and Canada. It recently was awarded transpacific routes that will enable it to serve Hawaii, American Samoa, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand and Australia.

Trans-Caribbean has operated in the red for the last few years and American has not seen quarterly improvement in airline earnings since 1966, spokesman for the carriers said.

The proposed merger is the second to be announced among the major airlines recently. Northwest Airlines and Northeast Airlines reached an agreement in principle last fall.

Youths Held In Car Theft Probe

Two San Francisco youths, who stopped at the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza yesterday to complain that a hit-and-run driver struck "their" car, wound up arrested on suspicion of auto theft.

California Highway Patrol officers said the two, Hector Manuel Aguilar-Sanchez, 17, of 252 Capp Street, and Alex Melhado, 19, of 237 San Jose Avenue, arrived at the toll gate office shortly before 5 a.m. to register their complaint.

The car they were driving was registered to James L. Johnson of 18 Evergreen Avenue, Mill Valley, officers reported. It had been reported taken earlier while parked in front of Johnson's home.

Melhado was placed in custody of San Francisco police, and Aguilar-Sanchez was sent to the San Francisco Youth Center.

A Power Showdown In Reed School District

A confrontation has developed between school board and teachers in Reed School District over report cards.

Report cards are an old and recurrent cause of disagreements in the education world. Running back many years, there have been experiments in replacing the familiar A-through-F letter grades with some other form of report: simply "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory," a written message from the teacher, parent-teacher conferences, etc. Many school districts have tried them all at one time or another; most keep returning to the letter grades.

Agitation against the traditional report cards has grown in recent years with enthusiasm for ungraded schools. However, they remain in use in the vast majority of districts. A survey last year by the National Education Association's research division showed that A-F letter grades were given by 77 per cent of teachers nationwide, 1 through 5 number grades by 9 per cent, and percentage grades by 6 per cent. This leaves few schools with only "pass-fail" grading or no report card at all.

IN THE REED district, however, the teachers appear adamant against letter-grade report cards. When the school board ordered that these be resumed in place of the parent-teacher conferences which had been in use recently, the teachers staged a revolt. Local units of both the California Teachers Association and the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers adopted resolutions of "no confidence" in the board.

This is indeed an extreme response to an order from the district's governing board, whose regulations must be obeyed by teachers as a condition of their contracts.

AS IN THE TAMALPAIS High School District hair cut furore, however, the fight over report cards is but the visible part of a deeper struggle.

The contest really is over the power of the school board to make and enforce regulations as authorized by one state law vs. the power of the teachers to negotiate anything bearing on the educational process as authorized by another state law (the Winton Act).

THE PRESENT Reed School District board is the result of a revolt of another kind — a ballot-box revolt by an electorate that felt experimental programs in the district were not producing results commensurate with their cost.

From 1960 to last year, the cost per pupil in the Reed School District rose from $469 to $1,019. While costs were escalating in all schools, the rise in Reed was rather steeper than in most surrounding districts.

One trustee was defeated for re-election in 1967. Last year, one incumbent bowed out voluntarily and two others were defeated for re-election.

The three elected last year ran on platforms opposed to experimentation and committed to holding down costs. They came out against a proposed 50-cent tax rate limit increase—which was defeated by a vote of 1,783 to 1,126.

OBVIOUSLY, the teacher organizations are opposed to the philosophy of this board. The report card fight appears to be a test of who is going to run the Reed district schools: the elected trustees or the employed educators.

As Shirley R. Lewis, a Taunton, Mass., school board member, pointed out in a national seminar on "Who Controls American Education" three years ago:

"In the final analysis, it is the lay board representing the public, and not the professional educator, who shoulders the responsibility for education in our society."

There would seem to be little point in electing a school board if it is powerless to make such decisions as what type of reports the parents are to receive from the teachers.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Congress' Handy Gadget: Continuing Resolution

By JOHN HALL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has developed a process that may be of interest to businessmen facing bankruptcy, persons facing long prison terms and other Americans who would like to put things off for a while.

The process is called "the continuing resolution."

The way it works is that when the end of the fiscal year, June 30, approaches, and Congress has not passed any appropriations bills, it simply votes to let the affected agencies continue spending at existing levels until the regular money bills pass.

THE BEST THING about the continuing resolution is that it can be continued.

Congress normally sets a deadline for the expiration of the continuing resolution. But if nothing has been done when the deadline arrives, it inevitably approves another continuing resolution.

The continuing resolution has always been a happy little method for fighting time, but it really came into its own this year. It is now January—six months into the fiscal year—and Congress still has not passed a bill for the Health, Education and Welfare department, the Labor Department and 12 other agencies.

But were there troops of anxious men running around Capitol Hill demanding their $19.7 billion before Congress adjourned? Of course not. A continuing resolution was rushed to the President, good until Jan. 30.

There is absolutely no limit to what the same approach could do in the private sector of the economy.

CORPORATIONS that are having a little trouble getting their books balanced could simply send their stockholders last year's dividends for a while.

Actually, the real reason for the continuing resolution is that congressmen are so busy answering letters about why things aren't getting done that they don't have enough time to do anything. Every 15 or 20 years, the load gets so heavy that it spills over into the next session. That's what has happened this year.

SOME LEGISLATORS think that Congress should go back to the calendar year budgetary system instead of the July-to-July fiscal year system. But what they don't know is that, in the late 1800's, Congress went to the fiscal year system because it got behind on the calendar year.

One possible answer to the whole problem might be to declare a leap century—in which one year out of every 100 would be abolished to let Congress catch up with its work. Some people figure 1970 would be a good time to start.

Tougher Conflict-of-Interest Law Could Have Odd Results

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Some rather peculiar results are anticipated from the action of Governor Reagan, Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan and Senate President Pro-Tem Howard Way in bearing down on the conflict of interest measure passed last year by the legislature.

The measure by Assemblyman Jesse M. Unruh, according to the governor and the Assembly and Senate leaders, isn't "tough" enough. So before it even goes into effect, Way and Monagan will introduce companion measures to substitute what the governor terms "the most comprehensive conflict of interest law ever enacted in the United States."

Demands for conflict of interest laws usually occur following the disclosure of practices of public officials which are questionable as far as doing business with individuals or businesses are concerned. Last year, it was a story about a senator which sparked the Unruh measure.

The bill was not seriously opposed, as it never is popular to oppose a measure pertaining to the morals of public officials. Governor Reagan signed the measure "reluctantly."

Now that elections are within six months ahead, and Assemblyman Unruh is an avowed Democratic candidate for governor, his 1969 measure turns out to be "not tough enough," so the Republicans find it necessary to attempt to substitute another.

Unfortunately, the Monagan-Way measures are not being written so the public gets much information concerning the enforcement of the proposed law.

It is contemplated that all investigations be done in private and the public be advised only in the event the investigators file accusations or turn their evidence over to district attorneys for prosecution.

Although many questions have arisen in the last 20 years concerning possible conflicts of interest, there has been only one go to court during that period. The accused assemblyman in that case was vindicated of wrong-doing.

Although Monagan indicated he does not want unjustified investigations to blacken characters, it would appear that the secrecy sought would cause practices which could be termed reprehensible.

Among these might be the sudden filing of charges at election time; filing of charges against officials one administration would want to get rid of, and disclosure of personal financial matters which under any circumstances are the private business of an individual, no matter who he is.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Jan. 19, 1960

Virgilio J. B. Cheda Jr., San Rafael fire marshal and member of one of Marin's pioneer families, died at a local hospital after a short illness at the age of 49.

After protests from packed house, San Rafael City Council repealed an old ordinance that banned all-night parking on city streets.

Not Much Change Since Napoleon

As the news media take their "official" taps on the wrist, it's only fair to weigh in one source of their big news these days — the Pentagon and its performers across the Pacific.

Lesson In Burning Ban Defiance

I believe there is a lesson to be learned from Mr. Theron A. Newell's article concerning Novato's backyard burning in defiance of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District's regulations. Assuming these citizens believe in law and order, and assuming further that their act of burning results from a conviction that the regulations are unjust, then one may conclude that these same citizens will hereafter look with tolerance and understanding upon those citizens who demonstrate, picket and assemble in the exercise of their First Amendment rights against what they believe to be unjust laws.

Supports Ray Shone And ITU Strikers

I have just cancelled my subscription to the Independent-Journal in sympathy with the strikers, so will probably not have an opportunity to see whether or not this letter is printed. However, in the last issue I received, Jan. 12, there was an article . . . by Mr. Paul E. Peterzell entitled "McCarthy's Surprise Move Most Likely to Benefit Behr."

In this he states, "For McCarthy to pass his toga along to his old friend, Raymond H. Shone, would be difficult, even if McCarthy's powers were not on the wane". I refute this statement and protest the wording as it infers so long as John McCarthy doesn't have the job, his "old friend" should have it . . .

Anyone new to the county, or who doesn't know Ray Shone for the fine person and attorney he is, would be highly swayed by this phraseology. This is a foul blow and indirect type of deterrent to Ray Shone's campaign, whose fine record as a civic minded man is completely ignored. I am sure Mr. Shone has decided to run because he feels qualified and competent to do a good job and NOT on the basis of a friendship with John McCarthy . . .

Corte Madera Had Earlier Movie

May I correct a statement made in your journal a few weeks ago.

You printed that the Cinema I was the first movie house in Corte Madera. It is not true.

Back in 1913 and 1914 there was a movie house where the post office just moved away from. The manager-owner's name was Maurice Laborie . . .

I know this to be the fact as I taught Mr. Laborie how to run the projectors. We cranked the machine in those days and only one projector. Admission 10 cents and children 5 cents. At the time I was projector at the Victory Theater in San Rafael. The old brick building still stands, and the present tenants are Taveggia-Brusati . . .

Bridge Board Entry Into Transit Rapped

Irespectfully ask that you use your influence to sop the Golden Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District from going into a bus and ferry system.

A decision to form a bus and ferry system by the bridge authority should first have been submitted to a vote of the people in the counties making up the district.

Current and future bridge tolls should only be used to pay for and maintain the Golden Gate Bridge and not used to subsidize a proven archaic and slow type of transportation.

I also respectfully ask that your influence be exerted to have the bridge operation transferred to the State of California for operation in conjuntion with the other bay area toll bridges.

In conclusion, I also ask that you use your influence to have the State of California build a second bridge or underwater tube that will also handle a BART-type of rapid transit system which will solve growing traffic congestion for Californians using the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway 101.

Morale Impaired In Reed District

The substantive differences between a mediocre and superior school district certainly are many but not always obvious. In the final analysis one certainly must conclude that instruction ultimately becomes the responsibility of the teacher. Teacher aides and any other supplementary materials enrich the instructional program when and only when you have a properly trained, highly motivated teacher.

At the risk of being obvious, let us note that of the two qualities, training and motivation, the latter is the crux of superior instruction. Motivation is that tangible or intangible something that transforms the ordinary into the exceptional. Community and board support of the educator is the paramount source for positive motivation. Without community and board support, staff and administrative morale quickly dissipates and program descends rapidly to the commonplace. Polarization in every facet of the community and educational program is immediate. The liberal versus the conservative, the board against the teachers, the community against the board, there is no middle ground . . .

The Reed Union School District, Belvedere-Tiburon, as of late one of the light-house districts in the country, is rapidly descending into mediocrity as a result of the autocratic, capricious attitude of the school board. Polarization has already become a fact in the community and on the school board. . . .

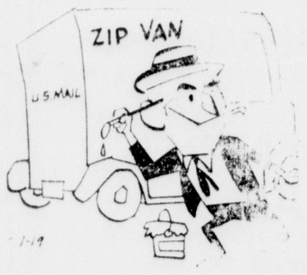

Staff morale in the Reed Union School District is presently at low ebb; at such a dangerously low ebb as to seriously hinder motivation. This state of affairs is remedied by one and only one course of action, positive coordination with the professional staff. . .

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

According to Bob Sylvester, a post office exec in New Jersey has designaated a special truck to expedite delivery of mail properly zip coded. The truck bears a sign "Zip Van," and, of course, it was only a question of time until a local wit added "Winkle" thereto.

The head of a college in England wrote to some unruly students who sent him a list of "non-negotiable" demands":

"Dear Gentlemen: We note your threat to take what you call 'direct action' unless your demands are immediately met. We feel that it is only sporting to let you know that our governing body includes three experts in chemical warfare, two ex-commandos skilled with dynamite and in torturing prisoners, four qualified marksmen in both small arms and rifles, two ex-artillerymen, one holder of the Victoria Cross, four karate experts, and a chaplain. The governing body has authorized me to tell you that we look forward with confidence to what you call a 'confrontation,' and I may say even with anticipation.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

New Mayor Is Sought For Troubled Washingon

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON—The White House would like to get a new mayor for the nation's voteless capital—with a population of more than 800,000, of whom 74 per cent are Negro.

Mayor Walter Washington, who has held the $40,000 job since 1967, is deemed inadequate to cope with the city's numerous and increasingly explosive problems.

In hush-hush inner council discussions, it is acknowledged Mayor Washington is impeccably honest, a scholarly and kindly gentleman and sincerely well intentioned. But while fully conceding these admirable personal qualities, held against him is a long list of complaints as a limited and ineffectual administrator.

BUT REPLACING Mayor Washington is a lot easier talked about than done. That involves numerous personal and political obstacles and complications.

To begin with, Washington is a Negro holdover from the Johnson administration. He was installed as mayor (official title commissioner) in a reorganization of the district government that the former President put through by executive order. When President Nixon took office, Washington was reappointed primarily for two reasons:

(1) No Negro was included in the Cabinet presented by the President in a nationwide telecast; (2) no acceptable replacement, especially a Negro, could be found for Washington.

Because he is a Negro and because of the circumstances under which he was reappointed, Mayor Washington can't be jettisoned out of hand.

Also, 1970 is a crucial election year. Anything savoring of the ax would instantly be seized upon by political and racial opponents to rant and rage for ballot box retribution against the GOP.

MEANWHILE, the capital's crime rate continues to soar, its budget to skyrocket, and problems and difficulties to multiply in complexity and intensity. Whoever succeeds Mayor Washington will be confronted with a Pandora's box of grievous evils and tribulations.

Following are a few stark highlights from the record:

In 1968, murders in the federal city reached a record high of 209, of which 30 are still unsolved. In 1969, this shocking total soared to 292, with 44 unsolved. In the first two weeks of the new year there have been eight killings, three still open.

Last week uniformed policemen were stationed in each of the city's 46 junior and senior high schools, following four shootings in which one student was killed and two others wounded. In grade schools, teachers have been threatened and assaulted, students robbed of their lunch money, and vandalism is rampant.

D. C. Library director Harry Peterson has officially notified Mayor Washington that many of the branch libraries will have to be closed unless immediate and drastic measures are instituted to put an end to "widespread disorders, harassment, theft and vandalism."

WASHINGTON now has the largest police force for a city of its size in the U.S.—4,100. This does not include more than 3,000 other security personnel—a special police force of 800 created by Congress last year to protect the 117 foreign embassies and missions, the guards of the scores of government buildings, the park police, capitol police and White House police.

Despite this massive array of police, a report by the Senate D. C. Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., scathingly declared, "The level of crime in the nation's capital is a national disgrace."

Truce In Mental Health Land Proves Fragile And Short-Lived

Trouble in mental health land, which reached a climax with the firing of Dr. Clyde G. Miller as director of community mental health services last October, continues to plague the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The supervisors have delegated to Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella the job of negotiating with Marin General Hospital District officials on a solution. But the same frictions exist between Dr. Donald P. Wilson of the Mental Health Center (responsible to the hospital district) and Dr. Miller's successor, Dr. Leon R. Wanerman, who is responsible to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

THE IN-FIGHTING is evident at almost every mental health meeting.

Take the annual dinner and election of the Marin Association for Mental Health, held at the Corinthian Yacht Club last Tuesday night. A slate of directors nominated by the nominating committee would normally have won routine election. But supporters of Dr. Miller circulated an opposition slate and tried unsuccessfully to get control of the board.

Also last week, Dr. Wanerman, a supporter of Dr. Miller, mailed a letter to employees of the Mental Health Center, saying in effect that the county takeover of the outpatient services is just about an accomplished fact.

THIS LETTER riled County Administrator Alan Bruce because the county takeover of outpatient services is one of the thorniest issues in the contract negotiations now going on between the county and the hospital district.

Bruce shot this memo to Dr. Wanerman:

"Entirely aside from possibly misleading implications, it is inappropriate conduct on your part as county director, to address yourself directly to individual employees of the hospital district or any other contractor. By copy of this memo I am apologizing to the hospital administrator and assuring him that there will be no repetition. Your compliance is expected."

Issues that will be facing the county supervisors again this year will include:

1. Will Dr. Wanerman, who was appointed as interim county director to succeed Dr. Miller, be replaced by a permanent director? And if so, by whom?

2. Should the county insist on taking outpatient services away from the hospital district and putting them under county control?

THERE'S AN ancient county fixture in the brand new Hall of Justice that's getting more attention than all the modern gadgets. It's an old grandfather clock that rests handsomely on the wall of the county clerk's office.

County Clerk George Gnoss rescued it from the basement of the old courthouse when he moved into the Hall of Justice last month. "The old clock quit about 12 years ago and hadn't been running for all these years," said Gnoss. "Just for the heck of it, I wound it up, and the old pendulum started swinging again. It's been keeping perfect time, and even gives the month and day!"

THE FLOODS produce some strange sights, such as cars tied to trees so that they won't float away, and boats ferrying passengers from porch to porch.

But here's a report of a motorcycle that runs under water: Ed Luders of public works swears he saw it on Highway 1 at Point Reyes Station. There was a dip in the road where water was so high, even the cars dared not try it. A little motorcycle comes putt-putting down the road, the driver puts his feet up on the handle bars, and chugs right through. "I don't know how he did it," marveled Luders. "The motor was completely submerged!"

Not Objective? Heaven Forbid! Objectivity's Only For Reporters

Some time ago I climbed into the ring and took a few little jabs at sex education. I was the flashy kid in the purple trunks. It was just an exhibition bout but some guy in the fourth row took the match seriously and made with the bronx cheers, hooting at me that I wasn't being objective.

Objective? I've never been objective in my life!

It can be said that my footwork isn't the fastest in the business and sometimes I'm a little slow coming off the ropes, but there are rounds—yes, there are rounds when I feel my weekly exercise is worth all the sweat and lather of the training camp.

But objective, never!

NEVER, EVER have I so much as hinted, suggested or inferred that I was working out at being objective. That's almost in the same class as saying that I've taken a dive.

The happy denouement is that I'm human—just like most of us. And being happily human makes me a set-up for being happily unobjective and that's the way it is.

I'm too riddled with private inhibitions, public vices, petty prejudices, too brindled with intellectual pimples and spiritual moles to exert myself to being anything else. It's like a heavyweight trying to shed enough pounds to be a lightweight. If I were to make the weight, I'd be as brittle as a plastic pistol. Lord forbid, there'd be nothing left of me but a little pile of objective ashes.

BETWEEN BOUTS I like to browse in bookstalls and every now and again I'll pick up a pretender to the intellectual crown having an introduction that goes something like this—"In order to be objective . . ." or, "The author, to insure objectivity in his analysis . . ." That's enough!

Right away I can see someone's trying to rub resin in my eyes. I'm waiting for the day when I find the guy who uses six-ounce gloves and comes out swinging with "Any observation resembling objectivity is purely coincidental . . ."

Battling a column is tough enough without having to be objective—like expecting me to fight by the Marquis of Queensberry rules when everyone else is doing his own thing.

If my editor expected me to be objective, he didn't tell me. When he taped my hands all he ever said was, "Keep your right up, your eye on his left hook, and remember, kid, you're on your own!"

AS FAR as I know, editors expect only reporters to be objective, and sometimes the strain begins to show on them. Maybe that's why some of them have been known to take a nip now and then. It's only rumor of course, but I wouldn't blame them if they did—that's what trying to be objective does to a man.

Columnists, however, are spared such rigorous demands. All we're supposed to do is reach down inside and scrounge around in the plumbing trying to find something we can resurrect—something subjective.

It's like sticking your hand into a pack rat's next and feeling around for something of value. Never can tell what you will find down there. Sometimes its a piece of broken glass, sometitmes a tear drop diamond, and sometimes you just get your fingers gnawed.

Anyway, I feel more at ease around a subjective fighter than an objective referee.

Season's Flooding To Be Discussed

Flooding caused by this season's storms will be discussed at the meeting of the Ross Town Council Flood Control Advisory Board Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the Ross Town Hall.

The Marin County Public Works Department will report on progress of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project at the meeting, chairman Natalie G. Lewis announced.

Flooding caused by other sources besides the creek will also be discussed at the meeting, Mrs. Lewis said. A report on flood control insurance will also be presented at the meeting.

Helen Nelson Urges Congress To Replace Packaging Laws

By G. DAVID WALLACE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for consumer organizations urged Friday that Congress repair or replace the truth-in-packaging law with new tools to help buyers learn what they're getting for their money.

After calling the act itself a deceptive practice, the spokesmen urged laws requiring unit pricing, standardized packaging, more detailed disclosure of package content, a gradual conversion to the metric system and dating of perishable foods.

"Tests indicate that despite efforts to improve labeling practices, the possibility that consumers can compare prices has not been noticeably increased," said Helen Nelson, a vice president of the Consumer Federation of America and former Mill Valley resident.

She testified during the federation's Consumer Assembly before a Senate commerce subcommittee trying to judge the impact of the 1966 Fair Packaging and Labeling Act.

ALTHOUGH THE Friday witnesses included only consumer-organization representatives, the Nixon administration's consumer advocate, Virginia Knauer, had criticized the act at the assembly's opening session Thursday.

"We now have some very serious questions concerning the adequacy of this law," Mrs. Knauer said.

HELEN NELSON

The law was intended primarily to reduce the number of packages on store shelves so housewives could more easily compare prices.

But Mrs. Nelson testified that tests conducted in 1968 by Consumers Union and in 1969 by New York City showed housewives still can't compared prices effectively.

The New York City study reported the shoppers involved wound up paying an extra 11 per cent on shopping bills because they couldn't identify packages offering the best price per unit.

THE ONLY senator at the hearing, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Americans spend $124.7 billion on food and tobacco annually.

"If you slap 11 per cent on that you're really dealing with a lot of nickels and dimes," he said.

Congress is considering laws requiring packages to carry the price per unit of measure as well as a bill to require that perishable foods carry the date at which their quality begins to deteriorate.

"CONGRESS WILL restore order in the market place only by amending the Fair Labeling and Packaging Act to fix responsibility on retailers to price their packaged wares by unit measures," Mrs. Nelson said.

"Some information we need and cannot get is a statement of nutritional composition of meat products manufactured for human consumption," she said. "We get it on cat and dog food."

Dr. Currin Shields, president of the Arizona Consumers Council, showed a milk-substitute carton listing as one ingredient "vegetable oil."

He said the ingredient probably was cocoanut oil, which causes an allergic reaction in some people, but the buyer had no way of knowing.

Dr. William F. Willier, director of the National Consumer Law Center of Boston College, said listing of metric weights, which are divisible by 10, would relieve the shopper of wrestling with hard-to-divide ounces and fractions of ounces.

Julia Mainhart Is The Bride Of L. L. Lucas

Julia Josefa Mainhart became the bride of Leiko L. Lucas Saturday in an afternoon ceremony in Jehovah's Witnesses Kingdom Hall in Mill Valley.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrey Mainhart of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klein of San Jose.

Matron of honor for the bride in the Hawaiian style wedding was Mrs. William Moreman of Riverside, Mrs. Steve Morgon of Mill Valley and Susan Gelany of San Carlos were bridesmaids.

Steve Morgon served as best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Silver Pascua of Mill Valley and Manuel Chavez of Corte Madera.

A reception was held at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Julia was graduated from San Rafael High School. She is a local missionary for Jehovah's Witnesses.

The bridegroom was graduated from Fremont High School in Sunnyvale and attended Foothill College. Mrs. R. L. Bernier of Santa Cruz is his local grandmother. Leiko is self employed and is also a local missionary for Jehovah's Witnesses.

Following an Hawaiian wedding trip the couple will live in Mill Valley.

Ed Hobbs To Claim Bride

The engagement of Stephanie Tibbetts to Lt. Edmund Rhodes Hobbs has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Tibbetts of Cupertino.

Edmund is the son of Col. and Mrs. Gregory J. Hobbs of San Rafael.

Stephanie is a secretary with Pacific Telephone Co. and attended Foothill College in Los Altos.

The future bridegroom is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and has a master's degree from Stanford University in nuclear engineering. He is assigned to the Air Force Weapons Laboratory at Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico.

Loop The Loop And Tie The Tie, New Scarf Know-How Is The Style

Great prints are showing up in signature scarves, signed by such fashion giants as Givenchy, St. Laurent, Pucci, and any of a number of American designers.

Printed Indian paisleys, art deco, florals, geometrics are some of many prints available to dress up the simplest outfit.

Inventive women are coming up with many new ways of wearing printed scarves. Printed scarves go with everything from the great soft clingy dresses and long cardigan suits to the pant and jumpsuits.

Loop the scarf once loosely, and toss over your shoulder.

Using some of the new scarf jewelry, scarves are looped through the different circles of the necklace, either criss-cross style or straight through.

Use long scarf around the waist alone, or under chain belt, or—looped through the belt.

Scarves wrap the head as turbans or in a gypsy tie.

Scarves are also tied to handbags and tote bags.

PARIS DESIGNER Hubert Givenchy designed this printed oblong scarf that lends itself to the latest fashion treatment in versatile ways. Here it adds style and color to a simple little dark dress when wrapped twice around the neck and lopped on front for an elongated ascot effect.

WHEN THE DRESS calls for a belt you can give it the new twist of a chain belt and loop the printed scarf through it. The scarf can also be worn under a chain belt. Scarf and belt are both Givenchy designs.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Does Anyone Else Get Bad Vibes From The Freaky New Vocabulary?

What with everyone offering requiems to the sexy Sixties, why don't we bury some of the overused slang words, too? I no longer groove on the zonked-out rap my kids use to prove they're hip. I'm from the day when "head" was a nautical term and "Maryjane" was a make of shoe.

Does anyone else get bad vibes from the fresky new vocabulary?—OVERKILLED

Dear O.K.:

Come on now, you're as fascinated as I am by those weird words—and that's why the kids will soon produce a new crop. When elders "get into" the young generation's slang, it's zapped, man. Youth is very up tight about over-30 copycats.

So let's toll the bell for 1960s slang with a game of: Remember When?

"Turn on, tune in and drop out" meant you hunkered up to the TV set—and fell asleep.

"Topless" described stale beer (not bare), and "bottomless" was a teen-age boy's stomach.

It was "a chicken in every pot," not "pot in every chick."

A "bird" wore feathers and could fly. (She still does sometimes, but it isn't the same.)

A "bummer" rode the rails.

"Dorky" was something you put in a lock, and a ding-a-ling tinkled, but didn't ring anybody's chimes.

"Cool" was "not so hot."

A "trip" started by cab, not "tab."

"Soul brothers" belonged to the Fraternal Order of Ghosts.

"Out of sight" was around the corner, not "way up there!"

A "big bust" didn't land you in jail. (And "getting busted" meant little Mary was growing up, not headed for the paddy wagon.)

"Flake off" was not a command but a dandruff remover.

"Funky" might have been Mr. Wagnalls' nickname for his sidekick.

"Uppers" were what grandpa took out of his mouth and soaked in a glass of water every night. And a "downer" was the elevator to the basement.

"A "burn artist" was a backyard barbecuer.

"Psych-out" was the sign on a psychiatrist's door when he went to lunch.

"The fuzz" came on peaches, not in a patrol car.

"Getting stoned" was alcoholic, not psychedelic.

And "The Pill" was not capitalized.

What kind of words are in store for us "slang freaks" of the Seventies? One just off the griddle is "righteous," meaning "heavy," "groovy," real okay. Also, the kids are going back to the Thirties for such goodies as "Swell," "Keen," "Copacetic," "Horsefeathers!"

And if you don't like the new phrases, my middle-aged friend, just start using them around your offspring. You'll be surprised how fast they're scratched as un-cool FPO (For Parents Only)—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Stick Pins

With regular-sized tie-tacs and tie bars getting "lost" in all the fabric and color of the new wide ties, the current trend is to larger and bolder tacs and bars —plus arevival of stick pins. The latter go extremely well with the elegant look of today's clothes, reports the Men's Fashion Association.

Maureen Classick Is Engaged To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis W. Classick of Hamilton Air Force Base announce the engagement of their daughter Maureen Anne Classick to Thomas Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Horn of Novato.

Mickie, as the future bride is known, is the sister of Stephen, Michael and Carolyn Classick. She was graduated from Colegio Americano school in Guayaquil, Ecuador, and from Healds Business College and is employed in the data processing department at the Marin County Civic Center.

Diane and Janet Horn are the future bridegroom's sisters. He was graduated from Novato High School, attended College of Marin and is employed by Western Electric in San Francisco.

Laurene Pellerito Is Wed To Ken Waldron

St. Rita's Church in Fairfax was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Laurene Pelleriti of Fairfax and Kenneth Waldron of San Francisco. A reception at Marin Country Club followed the ceremony.

Laurene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armondo Pelleriti of Fairfax, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Kunzl of Seattle, Wash.

Marilyn Grove of San Anselmo was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Diane Precissi of Stockton, Christine Anderson of San Francisco and the bridegroom's sister, Anne Kunzl of Seattle.

Dennis Waldron served as his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by another brother, Thomas Waldon, Theodore Vilas, and the bride's brother Stephen Pelleriti.

The bride was graduated from Marin Catholic High School. She is a student at the University of San Francisco and is employed at the Agency Insurance Mart in San Francisco. Jon Pelleriti of Fairfax is also her brother, and she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pelleriti of Millbrae.

Also a student at USF, the bridegroom is employed at St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco. He is also the brother of Mrs. Gerald Fleming of San Diego and Matthew Kunzl of Seattle.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple will live in San Francisco.

Deborah Sheppard Will Be Wed To Timothy J. Roth

The Donald Lee Sheppards of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Deborah Lee to Timothy J. Roth of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Deborah is the sister of Leslie and Tracy Sheppard. She was graduated from San Rafael High School and attends College of Marin.

Maj. and Mrs. John H. Roth of Rantoul, Ill., are the future bridegroom's parents, and he is the brother of Patrick J. and Daniel J. Roth. Timothy was graduated from Rantoul Township High School and is in the Air Force.

The couple plan a summer wedding.

The Pill Prescribed To Prevent Cancer

MUNICH, GERMANY (GF)—Contentions of an alleged cancer-inducing property of birth control pills are sharply challenged by a Munich gynecologist's 15-year study results. Prof. Rudolf Kaiser of the University of Munich's Medical School says his study shows women on the pills are actually less susceptible to cancer of the breast and uterus.

Numerous women were involved in the study, which produced several interesting observations and correlations on women and cancer in general. Kaiser found, for example, that the more children a woman has, the less chance she has of ever contracting cancer.

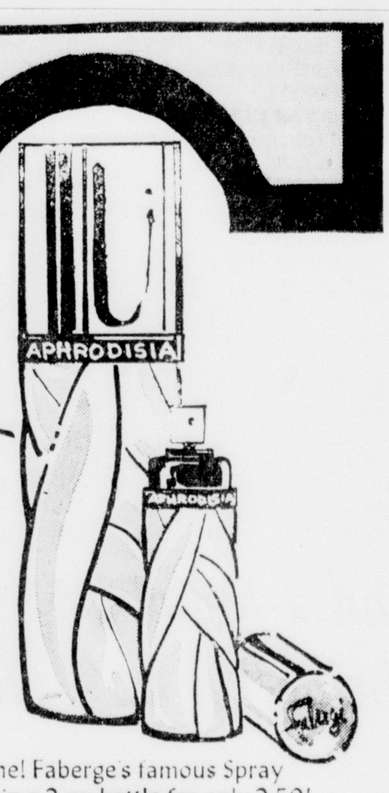

He also learned that the earlier in life a woman has children, the less are the chances she'll develop cancer later on in life. Such results, he theorizes, probably are due to various regulatory mechanisms in a woman's hormonal makeup affected by pregnancy.

Among these regulatory changes is one in which so-called gestagen hormones form in the ovarian tubes during pregnancy preventing the menstrual period. When an insufficient supply of gestagens is available, it almost invariably leads to the breast and uterary cell-like changes that are indicative of cancer. The changes can actually lead to cancer years later. On the other hand, the malignant change can be avoided by administration of gestagens.

Kaiser believes his findings that women on the Pill are much less susceptible to cancer is largely due to the favorable influence of such regulatory mechanisms.

He therefore encourages young women with regular disturbances in their menstrual cycles to take birth control pills as a preventative therapy against the dread disease.

ON THE AGENDA

Astrologers' Astrologer Will Speak At 'The Wondrous Lunch'

DEAN MARTIN NELSON

"The Wondrous Lunch of 1970 — The Amazing and Dramatic Destiny in the Stars Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" is the theme for the Sausalito Woman's Club's fund-raising event Thursday at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse.

Guest speaker will be Dean Milton Nelson, known as Milton, the astrologers' astrologer. Involved some 20 years ago in attempting to disprove astrology, Milton found pragmatic truths and began serious research on the subject.

He claims accuracy in prediction of 35 events in 1969, including student confrontations, the Santa Rosa earthquake, the Hawaiian tidal wave, death of Ho Chi Min, increase in interest rates and reform in religion.

Milton works in all systems of astrology, including the Hindu concept and has as clients famous personalities around the world. He has taught advanced classes on progressive and horary astrology at the Metaphysical Center in San Francisco and has been on television and radio programs.

Luncheon chairman Mrs. Joseph De Martini will prepare an Italian luncheon in the club's new kitchen assisted by Mmes. Charles Elliott, Elmo Maggiora, Vincent Maggiora and George Kowski.

Program chairman, Kathleen Ksanda, is writing fortunes that will be in the cookies to be sold, and Mrs. Jack Woods is doing decor in astrological motifs, assisted by Mmes. Edward Bronson Jr., Charles Henderson and C. Fred Hoffman. Others assisting are Mmes. Sally Hetrich, Herbert Andron, Alfred Harlem and Glen Hall.

MEMBERS AND friends are invited to the Marin Symphony Auxiliary's second Music for Majors for this season when Jean Chandler will present a demonstration of flute music, accompanied by Rabaline Meacham.

The program at the Kentfield home of Betty Klink will be preceded by a coffee hour at 10 a.m.

THE ROHNERT Park Garden Club will present a solid rosewood grand piano, a relic from the pioneer Crane Ranch near Santa Rosa, to the City of Rohnert Park during a luncheon at noon Thursday at the Rohnert Park Community Center.

Mr. R. L. Tignor, one of the workers on the piano project said the club searched for months to find a suitable piano to give to the city for its new community center. After purchasing the 100-year-old Crane piano, the club had an immediate offer from a prospective purchaser, she said.

The refinisher, E. L. Sims of Santa Rosa, discovered that underneath the old mahogany stain was a beautiful natural rosewood which he hand rubbed to a gleaming finish. He also completely reconditioned the working parts.

Col. Leonard McCormick of Petaluma, who holds a Ph.D. degree in musicology, will initiate the piano at the luncheon.

Guests invited to attend the luncheon are members of the Rohnert Park City Council and Chamber of Commerce; Peter Callinan, city manager; members of the Crane family; E. L. Sims and Mrs. Geraldine Larson, garden club speaker.

The regular meeting of the club will be held at 1 a.m. following the luncheon, with Mrs. Larson speaking on "Conservation and the Role of the Penny Pine."

THE NOVATO Chapter 609, Order of Eastern Star, will honor its new members at the meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Druids Hall in Novato.

Mrs. L. D. Stortz is chairman, assisted by the new members and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. John Craig, Lawrence Schmidt and Mmes. Carolyn Betts, Georgia Rebello and R. K. Henshillwood.

A TUTORING workshop cosponsored by the Volunteer Bureau and the Marin YWCA is scheduled to start Thursday at Ross Valley Savings and Loan in San Anselmo at 1 p.m.

The course will consist of a series of three round-table-discussions, according to Mrs. Paul Neumann, workshop leader, and is designed to give the interested volunteer training in basic tutoring skills: the role of the tutor, the initial approach to the child, how to listen and communicate. Follow-up sessions will be scheduled for those who have accepted an assignment as a means of exploring together individual needs and developing further techniques.

Registration is being handled by the YWCA.

THE BELVEDERE Tennis Club named two Belvedere women as committee chairmen for 1970: Mrs. John Norby, activities chairman, and Mrs. Jack Welisch, tennis vice chairman, who will coordinate junior activities.

ZONTA CLUB of Marin will honor the memory of Amelia Earhart, a long and beloved member of Zonta, (first of its Boston club, and later its New York City Club) Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Oliver Hartzell in San Rafael.

In 1938, a year after Miss Earhart's mysterious disappearance, Zonta International established its annual grants for fellowships in aeronautical sciences as a living memorial to this courageous woman. The grants are supported by contributions from member clubs, including Zonta of Marin.

Speaker for the evening will be Ross P. Game, publisher and former war correspondent, who accompanied Frederick Goerner on the investigation into the disappearance of Miss Earhart. The findings of the Goerner and Game expedition were contained in a best-selling book by Goerner titled "The Search for Amelia Earhart." Game will illustrate his talk with photographs taken on the trip.

Hostesses for the eveining will be Mrs. Hartzell, Virginia Shattuck, Mrs. Richard Keating and Kitty Oppenheimer.

SAN FRANCISCO Yacht Club's Women's Auxiliary has announced its 1970 board of directors. Officers are Mmes. John Dewitt III, president; L. W. Colby, vice president; Samuel Mann, secretary; and Mervyn Cole Jr., treasurer. Directors are Mmes. Benjamin Ballard, Donald Bekins, Robert Christensen and Dorothy Morgan.

THE MARIN Section of the National Council of Jewish Women will meet for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Murray Rayden in Greenbrae Wednesday at 11 a.m. to hear several speakers discuss current community needs in Marin.

Among the speakers will be Bernard Rosner, director of the Marin Jewish Community Center, and Mrs. Sylvia Siegel, executive director of the Association of California Consumers.

Mrs. Rayden is acting president of the newly formed local section of council, a national membership organization of American Jewish women who wish to serve their communities. Possible target areas of the group include local bus transportation within Marin, air pollution control and high school student counselling. All interested women are invited to attend the meeting.

Linda Diane Scribner became the bride of William L. Harrigan Jr. in an afternoon ceremony Jan. 10 at the Presbyterian Church of Novato. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ronald J. Scribner of Novato and the late Mr. Scribner.

Denise C. Purse of Novato was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Karen P. Studley and Sharon Ralph of Novato and the bridegroom's sister Patti Patton of the Kona Coast, Hawaii.

Best man was Colin Vokur of San Rafael, and guests were ushered to their seats by Robert Sharp, the bride's brother Darryl S. Scribner and the bridegroom's brother Robert (Mickey) Harrigan, all of Novato.

A reception at the Wild Horse Valley Club followed the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed by Gallenkamp's Shoes in Corte Madera. Donald T. Scribner of Sacramento is also her brother.

William is the son of William L. Harrigan of San Anselmo and Mrs. Roberta Patton of Kona Coast. He was also graduated from Novato High School and also attended College of Marin. The bridegroom is employed by Dill and Sederberg in Mill Valley. He is also the brother of Dianne Kingsley and Cecy Harrigan of San Rafael. Mr. and Mrs. William Keaton of San Rafael are his grandparents.

The couple will live in Petaluma following a wedding trip to South Lake Tahoe.

L. G. James Claims Bride In Sausalito

Leonard Gage James of Sausalito and Fritze Winkler of San Francisco and Copenhagen, Denmark, were married Saturday in a ceremony at the Episcopal Christ Church in Sausalito.

The bride, who is the daughter of Sigurd Winkler and the late Mrs. Winkler of Copenhagen, was given in marriage by a family friend, Robert Dewey of Spokane, Wash. Matron of honor was Mrs. Carl Schmidt of Glendale and best man was Geoffrey Steinemann of Port Washington, Long Island, N. Y. Ushers were Dr. Emmet L. Rixford and Victor Wollmann of Sausalito.

A wedding dinner was held at the Blue Fox restaurant in San Francisco.

The bride was graduated from a private girls school in Copenhagen attended by the Danish Princesses and continued her education at college in Guildford, Surrey, England. She attended an international hotel school in Switzerland and wine castle in France in preparation for a career as a hotel manager.

Before her marriage she travelled for the Danish Agricultural Marketing Board and was employed by the Denmark Cheese Association in San Francisco.

The bridegroom, who is the son of Mrs. Charles Couch James of Bayside, Long Island, N. Y., and the late Mrs. James, holds an A.B. degree from Yale University and doctor of laws degree from Harvard University.

He is a partner in the Graham and James Law Firm in San Francisco. He has one sister, Louise James of Bayside.

Supervisors May Shuffle Panel Terms

Marin County Board of Supervisors will consider a new ordinance that would rearrange the terms of various commission appointees so that the terms would in general coincide with the terms of the supervisors who appoint them.

A draft of the new ordinance will be presented at the regular meeting of the Supervisors tomorrow at the Civic Center.

TWO COMMISSIONS

Under the proposed change, the terms of planning commissioners and the parks and recreation commissioners will be rearranged when the present terms expire. Subsequent terms would be as follows: If a county supervisor's term begins on Jan. 1, 1971, the commission appointee from his district would have his term expire on July 1 of the same year. Thus, a supervisor who takes office Jan. 1 would have six months to assess the work of the commissioner, then reappoint him or not on July 1.

On Jan. 6 the supervisors made this rearrangement for the Marin Aviation Commission.

OTHER BUSINESS

Among other items on tomorrow's agenda are requests for more funds to meet increasing workloads in the public defender's office and in the Department of Public Social Services.

Public Defender Jerome Durham reports the need of two lawyers and an intermediate typist at a combined added cost of $17,000 through June 30.

Miss Betty L. Presley's request for additional social services help would be paid from federal funds, but she reports that the need for aid to families with dependent children is much higher than expected, and an $88,000 deficit is expected by the end of June if the present rate of spending continues.

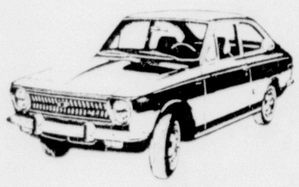

The county administrator and the county planning director, Paul C. Zucker, will make recommendations on how the planning department can reshuffle personnel to put more work on updating master U.S. plans and on Bolinas Lagoon planning, and cut down on staff by using more consultants.

Detroit's Murder List Compares Badly

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit, with a population eight times that of its sister-city Windsor, Ont., recorded 244 times as many homicides last year.

Officials report there were 488 homicides in Detroit in 1969 compared to two in Windsor. The Detroit River separates the two cities.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

JUST DON'T SIT THERE, GROW!

It wasn't the time or the place for it, but there was enough invigorating rain in Marin last week to inspire two tightly-bound bales of hay to begin sprouting like crazy. The now-shaggy bales, having no sense of the fitness of things, are growing while holding down a sign at the Second Street entrance to Highway 101 South, in San Rafael. (Independent-Journal photo)

Legislation To Abolish Bridge District Slated

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to abolish the Golden Gate Bridge District and put it into a new Bay Area transportation authority is about to be introduced by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland.

Mulford's proposal would put all commuter bus lines, bridges and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District under a single regional authority. His proposal echoed one made repeatedly in past years by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Mulford told newsmen he will "join forces" with Assemblyman John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, to push the bill. But Foran's office denied that he had agreed to support such a bill.

Foran, chairman of the Assembly Transportation Committee, last year won passage of a bill requiring the bridge district to submit a master plan for its future to the 1971 Legislature.

Mulford said his plan would put the bridge district, BART, the San Francisco Municipal Railway and Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District out of business. The state Division of Toll Crossings also would lose control over its bay bridges.

$100 Raised For Park In Novato

The 10th birthday party of the City of Novato Saturday night at the Novato Moose Lodge raised approximately $100 for Pioneer Memorial Park, according to Billie Garl, secretary of the sponsoring chamber of commerce.

The party drew approximately 200 civic and business leaders.

Acting police Chief Maurice D. Lafferty and Juanita Gibson, secretary to the planning department, were presented desk sets as the city's employees with the longest service.

300 Granted Assessment Reductions

Of 435 Marin taxpayers who protested their property assessments for this fiscal year, 300 have been granted reductions totalling about $37,000 in taxes since the assessment appeals board opened weekly hearings last Sept. 26.

Of the 300 who got reductions, 190 were by stipulation with the county assessor, and 110 were lowered by the assessment appeals board headed by Julius H. Selinger. The appeals board denied 40 appeals and raised three, while 40 others withdrew their applications.

This leaves only 52 more cases to be heard by the appeals board.

Auto Stripped

Still No Student Leader At College

After two elections, College of Marin still does not have a student body president for spring semester.

Freshman Martin Fleischman again outpolled two opponents in last week's election, but failed to gain a majority over Richard Beban and William Acosta.

Fleischman won a majority in the December election, but it was canceled by the student Executive Council for polling irregularities.

Last week Fleischman drew 176 votes to 122 for Acosta and 119 for Beban. Beban had unofficially withdrawn before the two-day election.

Kimo Campbell, fall semester student body president, won a new spot on the Executive Council by outpolling Diane Andrews for song leader, 203 to 142.

There was no candidate for vice president. The post will be filled by appointment after the semester starts Feb. 3.

Other winners, all unopposed are Richard Kirby, 259 votes for public relations commissioner; Claudette Sherbert, treasurer, 247; Elaine Strahlendorf, secretary, 253; Dennis Carpenter, rallies and assemblies commissioner, 266.

Auto Crash Victim In Good Condition

Kathleen L. Herrington, 22, of 41 Santa Maria Street, Novato, was reported in good condition today at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital with bruises and cuts sustained yesterday when a car she was riding in struck a parked car, San Rafael police reported.

According to police the car driven by William J. Lambert, 24, of Brisbane hit a parked car owned by Nina Belenis of San Francisco on Lincoln Avenue north of Laurel Place at 3:30 a.m.

EWE BETTER BELIEVE IT —TRIPLETS

Lady Bird had triplets yesterday — Faith, Hope and Charity.

The healthy lambs were born to a Suffolk ewe at the home of Robert Libchitz, 205 Eastman Lane, Petaluma.

Mrs. Libchitz said that the ewe, Lady Bird, had been expected to bear twins and that she had helped to deliver two. Her husband returned to the pen 30 minutes later and found the third lamb. He said all were large and healthy, highly unusual for triplet births.

Marin Visitor Killed; Shooting Suspect Held

A 32-year old woman visiting San Rafael was fatally shot with a double barreled shotgun yesterday in the apartment of a friend, who has been charged with murder.

Dead is Erma Clay Brown, who was killed with a shotgun blast to the head at close range, San Rafael police said. Miss Brown, a dietician, had been visiting her brother-in-law, Robert Wooton of 125 Ross Street, for four months.

Robert A. Cosey, 36, of 207 First Street, was booked into Marin County Jail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Cosby was arresttd at his apartment after his roommate, John Brown, called police at 2:30 a.m., Inspector Gilbert F. Freitas reported. When police arrived Brown, no relation to the victim, and Cosey were together.

Freitas described Miss Brown as a friend of Cosey's and that prior to the shooting the couple had been arguing over an unidentified person the woman had been seeing.

Engineers Test Bay Currents For Dredging

I-J Special Report)

SAN FRANCISCO — The first of a series of tests to determine the direction taken by dredge spoils carried into San Francisco Bay by tides and currents from disposal sites will begin this month under direction of the Army Corps of Engineers.

According to Col. Charles R. Roberts, district engineer, bright yellow and pink undersea floats, all numbered, will be dropped at 10 sites throughout San Francisco and San Pablo Bays.

Persons finding them are urged to send them back to the Corps district office, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, explaining where they were found. The Army will pay 50 cents for each float returned, Colonel Roberts said.

The location of the discovered floats will help to determine the path of tides and currents, the Colonel added.

Pair Nabbed For Suspected Weed

A Mill Valley man and his companion from Novato were booked into Marin County Jail Saturday after a Tiburon sheriff's deputy stopped their car, which was going the wrong way on one-way Marinero Circle, and smelled marijuana in the vehicle.

Booked on suspicion of possession of marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia and being in a place where marijuana was used were John Alexander Ziegler, 21, of 31 Glen Drive, Mill Valley, and Suzanne Ziegler, 22, of 1904 Benton Lane, Novato. Each was released under $625 bail to appear Wednesday in Marin Municipal Court.

The sheriff's substation said a container of suspected marijuana and a partfally smoked marijuana cigarette were found in the car.

Ammo Blast Startles Residents

Mill Valley police said they received about five calls from concerned residents shortly after the first blast at 9:40 a.m.

Jack Harris, a Muir Beach resident who lives about five miles from Tennessee Point, said the explosions shook his house "worse than an earthquake." He feared the blasts would trigger landslides in his rain-soaked community.

Rod Ireland, press officer for the Sixth Army information office at the Presidio of San Francisco, said the 87th Ordinance Detachment at the Presidio regularly detonates old ammunition at the site, but felt that today's atmospheric conditions perhaps caused the sound of the blasts to carry farther than normal.

Auto Collision Injuries Minor

A 22-year-old Kentfield motorist was injured yesterday when his car was struck in the rear by another auto on Los Ranchitos Road near Ranch Road, outside San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol said.

The driver, Robert H. Menzies of 30 Cypress Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital for a neck sprain and shock after the 12:30 p.m. accident.

The highway patrol said Menzies had stopped on Los Ranchitos road to turn onto Ranch when his car was struck by a vehicle driven by Harold G. Rockafellow, 24, of 124 Merrydale Road, Apt. 4, San Rafael.

Sierra Club Names New Book Editor

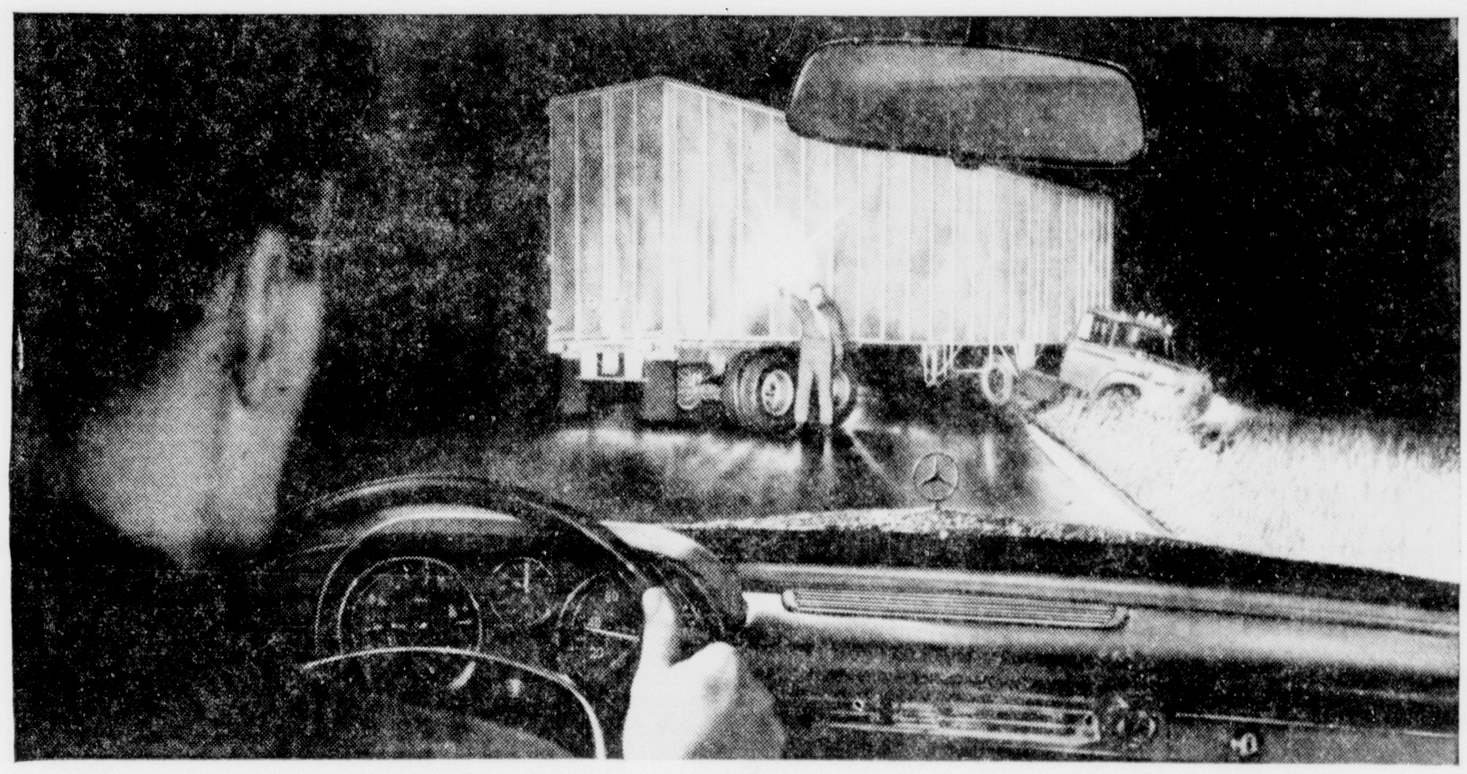

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Sierra Club, the San Francisco-based conservation group, has announced the appointment of John G. Mitchell as editor of the organization's book publishing program.

HAZEL

"I SAID, WE LIVE NEAR THE AIRPORT!!"

"Emergency situations aren't optional. That's why 4 disc brakes are standard on every Mercedes-Benz."

You know the feeling. The hour's late. The road is clear. The slow metronome of the wipers keeps you company. Your mind is already home.

Then it happens.

Just over a rise you find a trailer truck sprawled in your path. There is only one thing between you and a 20-ton roadblock. Your brakes.

In a Mercedes-Benz, those brakes would all be the disc type. Not just the front ones. All four. We offer no options. We believe that the braking system is one of the most vital mechanisms on an automobile. So it must be the best we can build.

Disc brakes are superior to common drum brakes for three reasons.

One, a disc brake is better able to dissipate heat—a major cause of brake fade.

Two, there's far more effective braking area on a disc brake than on an ordinary drum brake, giving you more stopping power.

Three, a disc brake is less affected by water and you face less danger of brake failure, even in a cloudburst. In addition, the Mercedes-Benz braking system is designed to give a controlled straight-stop—even when you have to stop short from high speeds. (Which is a polite way of saying "panic stop.")

You'll feel this extra margin of control and braking power the first time you test stop a Mercedes-Benz.

Because we believe, when you've got to stop, you've got to stop.

In fact, a Mercedes-Benz may even change your driving habits. Because if your knuckles now whiten every time you face a sudden curve in a swarm of flickering brake lights, a Mercedes-Benz could prove to be a relaxing experience.

Our four-wheel independent suspension plants those tires on the road like no ordinary suspension could. Helps you take curves in one, smooth swing—evenly between the white line and the guardrail. And the next time you drive your own car, count how many times you have to make those tiny steering adjustments to keep it from wandering. Our recirculating ball-type steering, even with power added, helps to give you a certain "feel" for the road and a confidence that the car will track where you aim it.

Look for the little things

A lot of "near great" cars missed being great because of sloppy workmanship, slapdash assembly or lack of attention to details.

So after you test drive a Mercedes-Benz and see the big differences in handling and control, take a few moments to examine the little differences. Run a matchbook around the hood, trunk and door openings. See how the gap is exactly the same throughout. (Try that on your present car.)

Look at the trim. If it looks like wood, it is wood—not plastic. If it looks like chrome, it is chrome—not plastic.

We could take some shortcuts, make some compromises. Our cars would still be good enough for most people. But they wouldn't be good enough for Mercedes-Benz.

New brochures

Just mail the coupon for a colorful brochure describing Mercedes-Benz in more detail. And if you would like the convenience of your own Mercedes-Benz while vacationing in Europe, check the box for our Guide to European Delivery.

Better yet, visit our showroom. Our representative will be glad to tell you about any of our sixteen models. The prices range from $5,094* to $28,343*.

And be sure to take that test drive.

ALMANAC

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1861 Georgia seceded from the Union.

In 1938 General Franco's Nationalist air force killed 700 civilians when it bombed Barcelona and Valencia, Spain.

In 1955 Dwight D. Eisenhower held the first presidential news conference covered by both moving pictures and TV cameras.

In 1968 two airliners were hijacked to Cuba. One had 171 persons aboard.

A thought for the day: Oscar Wilde wrote, "As long as war is regarded as wicked, it will always have its fascination. When it is looked upon as vulgar it will cease to be popular."

Emergency Care Shift On Health Agenda

A proposal that the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Marin County take over the functions of the county's emergency medical care committee will be discussed at Wednesday's meeting of the council, set for 7:30 a.m. in the Blue Room at Marin General Hospital.

The council will also elect board officers, two members to serve on the group's executive committee and two representatives to the Bay Area Regional Council at the meeting.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Century Old Poignant Warning About The Doubtful Finesses

Almost a 100 years ago an English poet wrote a poignant warning about doubtful tricks: "When I was less than 20 I heard a man declare 'Go after tricks that make the game, and doubtful suits beware.' But I was less than 20; no use to talk to me. When I was less than 20 I heard him say again, 'Finesses in the wrong suits are never lost in vain. They're paid with games a plenty and countless rubbers too.' And I am over 20, and oh, 'tis true, 'tis true."

South's Problem

Perhaps today's hand will make up for a rather doubtful parody. South's problem is to go after the sure tricks, and he must shun doubtful finesses.

A youthful bridge player might take the diamond finesse at the second trick. East would win with the queen of diamonds and would return the queen of spades to force out one of declarer's stoppers.

Our young hero might now lead out the ace and king of diamonds, discovering the bad break. It is now too late to switch to clubs. East takes the first club to lead another spade, forcing out the other spade stopper. East gets in with the other top club to cash the spades and the ten of diamonds. South is thus down two. Even if South has avoided cashing the top diamonds, he is still down one, since East gets two spades, two clubs and the queen of diamonds.

SUPER METHOD

If South has lived long enough to count the cost of what he does, he will see that he cannot afford to waste time on the diamonds. The clubs will surely bring the game home.

South leads a club at the second trick, playing the queen from dummy. East wins (it does him no particular good to hold off) and returns a spade. South wins and leads the jack of clubs, forcing out the ace of clubs then or at the next trick.

Now South can easily get to his hand for three clubs, three hearts, two spades and two diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:

What do you say?

Teachers To Discuss Need of Uniformity

Teacher representatives from Sir Francis Drake High School and the four elementary school districts in its attendance area will meet Jan. 28 to discuss uniformity of preparation of pupils for entering the high school.

The meeting, for teachers of English, social studies, and foreign languages, will begin with lunch at the Pepperwood in Redhill Shopping Center, followed by meetings throughout the afternoon at the high school.

$49,500. ACCENT ON VALUE. ½ level acre. Beautiful setting — redwood inside and out. Architect's own home. 3 bedrooms and den, 2¼ baths. This Sleepy Hollow home is also for lease at $350 month! Exclusive.

$57,500. NO GENERATON GAP—This home has 4 of the biggest bedrooms ever. Privacy for any age. Early California—3,000 sq. ft. Living room, big breakfast room, 2 baths. Spanish kitchen, 3 car garage. Redwood trees. Walking distance to schools. Impressively outstanding.

WANT — WANT — WANT
We have clients who have not found their home among those now on the market.

Do you know of: 4 bedroom home in the Redwood High district — up to $50,000. Ask for Mr. Wilson.

Nearly level residential building site in San Rafael — under $9000. Ask for Mr. Palmquist.

4 bedroom home, nearly level lot, in San Anselmo or preferably Sleepy Hollow — up to $55,000. Ask for Mrs. Hunt.

Fairly new conventional type 5 bedroom home in North San Rafael area. Can afford to $55,000. A pool or pool site would be a bonus. Ask for Gloria Glattree.

SUMMONS TO ESTABLISH TITLE
NO. 55140

CLAIRE MAYTORENA, Plaintiff
v.
EDNA M. HARDER and all other persons unknown claiming any right, title, or interest in the lien on the real property described in the complaint which is a cloud upon plaintiff's title thereto, TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY, successor in interest to SAN RAFAEL LAND TITLE COMPANY, a California cooperation, Defendants
THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA:

To all the above named defendants and other persons claiming any interest in, the lien upon, the real property herein described or any part thereof, defendants, greeting:

You are hereby notified to appear and answer the complaint of CLAIRE MAYTORENA, plaintiff, filed with the Clerk of the above-entitled Court and County, within three months after the first publication of this Summons, and to set forth what interest in the lien described in the complaint, if any, you have in or upon that certain real property or any part thereof, situated in the City of Tiburon, County of Marin, State of California, particularly described as follows:

COMMENCING at a point on the southerly line of Mar East Street, distant South 76° 57' West 224.3 feet and South 04° 31' East 250.4 feet from Stone Monument No. 169, as said street and stone monument are shown on "Map of Lyford's Hygeia" filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, August 23, 1894; running thence South 27° 23' East 99.5 feet, North 60° 27' East 35.0 feet; thence North 24° 24' West 95.55 feet to the southerly line of Mar East Street; thence along southerly line of Mar East Street South 66° 25' West 40.0 feet to the place of commencement.

TOGETHER with that certain parcel of land bounded on the North by the south line of the tract above described, on the south by the exterior boundary of the Rancho Corte Madera del Presidio, and on the east and west by the extension southerly of the east and west boundary lines of the tract above described.

And you are hereby notified that, unless you so appear and answer the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: That the deed of trust dated September 6, 1940 naming San Rafael Land Title Company as Trustee and defendant EDNA M. HARDER as beneficiary and recorded on September 7, 1940 in Book 403, page 350 of Official Records of the County Recorder, County of Marin, State of California, is cancelled of record and expunged from the Official Records of the County Recorder, County of Marin, State of California, and that plaintiff is owner of said property in fee simple absolute; free and clear of the aforementioned mortgage or lien and that plaintiff recover her costs herein and for such further relief as may be meet in the premises.

If you are served with the summons and complaint you are directed to file with the clerk of this Court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within TEN DAYS AFTER THE SERVICE ON YOU OF THIS SUMMONS IF SERVED WITHIN THE ABOVE NAMED COUNTY, OR WITHIN THIRTY DAYS IF SERVED ELSEWHERE (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the Court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

Milling Company Seek Rezoning

Rezoning requests will be considered at the Petaluma Planning Commission meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Included will be the application of Walter Kieckhefer Co. for the Golden Eagle Milling Co. to rezone 6.4 acres on East Washington Street at Baylis Street from an industrial zone to community commercial. A small shopping area is planned.

Also to be considered is the request of Herbert Bundesen to change 15 acres on the southeast corner of Lakeville High and Casa Grande Road from an agricultural district to limited industrial.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Need For Blood Donations Up More Than 2 Per Cent A Year

VAN DELLEN

THE AMERICAN National Red Cross and the American Association of Blood Banks collect and process 90 per cent of the more than 6.5 million pints of blood used annually. The vital fluid is used mainly to treat disease, and to save accident victims and persons undergoing surgery.

Blood needs increase at a rate of 12 per cent annually. For example, the first adult heart transplant patient in the United States required 288 pints.

OUR SERVICEMEN in Vietnam get their quota from military personnel, their dependents, or the department of defense civilian employes. More than 300,000 units of blood are shipped from the United States to Viet Nam every year.

It has been estimated that 100 million Americans could donate blood but only 3 million do.

Fear, apathy, and inconvenience are the usual reasons why donations are not made. Donations from returning veterans have been greatly reduced due to the incidence of malaria and the use of anti-malarial drugs. Military personnel must now wait two years before giving blood.

Any healthy person can give a pint without worry or concern. Some have given 13 gallons and can still continue giving.

AVAILABLE BLOOD supplies can be increased if the fluid is broken up into its component parts and stored. In this way, one donor can help many recipients.

For example, a person with anemia needs only the red blood cells; the platelets and liquid portions (plasma) are of no value

By RICK DU BROW
United Press International

Network television this week begins its "second season," a fancy term meaning that new series will turn up to replace those that failed.

Five regular weekly series will debut on ABC-TV Wednesday and Thursday nights. And the network is hoping that at least one of them will match the success of the most publicized "second season" entry of all, "Batman," which had a short but dazzling life.

One of the new Wednesday series will be the hour-long Johnny Cash show, which actually had an acclaimed short run on ABC-TV last summer and earned the brilliant country-folk singer a regular season spot.

Another hot singer, Britain's Engelbert Humperdinck, will also have an hour series on ABC-TV starting Wedneeday. The format, of course, will be variety-musical. The premiere guests include Tony Bennett, Leslie Uggams and Donald O'Connor. And, following the path of the Welshman Tom Jones, who also has an ABC-TV musical series, the Humperdinck hour will originate in London.

ABC-TV's third new Wednesday series has a British flavor too. It is a half-hour situation comedy called "Nanny and the Professor," and it stars Juliet Mills as a sort of Mary Poppins-type governess who enchants the household of an American teacher and his motherless brats.

Richard Long, formerly of the ABC-TV western "The Big Valley," portrays the professor.

On Thursday, ABC-TV will offer a new humor entry of a decidedly different nature: "Pat Paulsen's Half A Comedy Hour." Paulsen, who was a large success on the now-defunct Smothers Brothers series.

ABC-TV's other new Thursday show is a weekly hour entitled "Paris 7000," and stars George Hamilton as an aide of the U.S. embassy in the French capital who helps out American visitors in trouble. Hamilton recently was in the canceled ABC-TV series "The Survivors," a jet-set soap opera with Lana Turner and Ralph Bellamy, and conceived by Harold Robbins. Only Hamilton survived on video.

Socialite Party Giver Succumbs

PARIS (AP) — Carlos de Beistegui, who gave the "ball of the century" in Venice in 1951, died Saturday at his chateau near Montfort l'Amaury, southwest of Paris. He was 75.

De Beistegui was a wealthy Mexican art collector and socialite. His 18th Century masked ball at his Palazzo Labia in Venice set a postwar fashion for international society and has been emulated since by hosts and hostesses in Europe and America.

De Beistegui suffered a heart attack in 1961 and retired to his chateaux in France. He sold his Venetian palace in 1966.

The cause of death was not announced.

San Rafael Schools Staff Displays Art

A staff art exhibit, featuring paintings, sculpture, ceramics and weaving by employees of San Rafael City Schools, opened today in the Education Room of the schools district office, Third and E Streets, San Rafael.

The exhibit, which will run through Jan. 30, is open to the public Mondays through Fridays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Family Advisory Panel Ready To Discuss Unwed Mothers' Problem

What is parents' responsibility for pregnant teen-agers and unwed minor mothers? Must welfare bear the whole burden or should parents be required to help?

These questions will be discussed by a panel of speakers tomorrow at a meeting of the Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee at the new Hall of Justice.

Jocelyn Bell, chairman of the committee, announced the meeting will be in Room 255 of the Hall of Justice at 8 p.m.

Panelists include persons in the legal, health and social services professions.

Frances Miller, public social services' staff assistant to the committee, explained that aid to unwed mothers involves apparent conflicts in the various laws. The state's Welfare and Institutions Code says, "No relative shall be legally liable to support any applicant for or recipient of aid to families with dependent children."

The state Civil Code says parents must give their children support and education suitable to their circumstances. The work manual for the county Department of Public Social Services says that parents of an unwed mother should be asked to help if they are financially able.

Another item on the agenda is a report on the federally-aided Work Incentive Program (WIN) by committee member Lottie Mae Hall. The WIN project is aimed primarily at helping fathers get jobs and or retrain for jobs, but it overlooks mothers who are heads of households or the chief breadwinner, said Mrs. Miller.

Terra Linda Math Team Ends Redwood Win Streak

Terra Linda High School, last year's champion, has ended Redwood High School's winning streak in this month's mathlete competition between eight Marin schools.

Redwood had won the first four meets this school year, but last week finished third behind Terra Linda and Tamalpais High School. Redwood still holds first place this year and four more meets are scheduled before the 1969-70 championship is decided.

Terra Linda High is in second place and San Rafael High, third.

In mathlete competition, teams of five students from each school, work individually on a mathematics problem. A point is scored for each correct solution. With five rounds of problems, a perfect score of 25 is possible but rarely achieved. Redwood team advisor William M. Medigovich said.

The school achieving the highest score after the final meet will compete with the San Mateo County winning team next summer.

Other high schools in the mathlete league are Tamalpais, Novato, Sir Francis Drake, Marin Catholic and San Domenico School for Girls.

Seven Draw Sentences On Driving

Seven persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving on Marin streets and highways.

Olin Wimberley Wiley, 49, of 1516 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was placed on one year probation and fined $100. He was arrested Sept. 4 in San Rafael.

Andrew James Norton Jr., 43, of 63 Vay Vista, Mill Valley, who was arrested July 14 on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $302.

William Harry Anderson, 46, of 756 Sun Lane, Novato, who was arrested Dec. 4 on Highway 101, was placed on six months probation and fined $200.

Mogens Ejner Sundboll, 50, of 944 Lea Drive, San Rafael, who was arrested Nov. 28 on Highway 101, was placed on six months probation and fined $50.

Ronald Edward Phillips, 34, of 96 C Madrone Street, Larkspur, was placed on one year probation and fined $240. He was arrested Dec. 4 on Highway 101.

Thomas William McGrath, 58, of 14 Greenwood Cove, Tiburon, was placed on one year probation, ordered to spend two days in jail and fined $302. He was arrested Oct. 29 on Highway 101.

Richard Willard Todt, 54, of 134 Madison Avenue, San Rafael, was placed on one year probation, ordered to spend five days in jail and fined $302. He was arrested Sept. 7 on Highway 101.

Planners To Eye Park Purchase

A review and analysis of the proposed purchase of the O'Hair property for park purposes will be made by the Novato Planning Commission at an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The city has been offered the 67-acre site on Novato Boulevard at Sutro Avenue for $500,000. The council is considering a bond issue for its purchase. The planning commission will review plans for a park made by the city parks and recreation commission.

Other items to come before the commission include new rules and regulations for the commission, the downtown study progress report, the circulation and housing elements of the master plan and the city manager's annual report.

Moscow To Broadcast Prisoner's Messages

MOSCOW (UPI) — Moscow Radio said it will broadcast messages from American prisoners in Vietnam to the United States today.

A broadcast said the messages had been tape recrrded by Hanoi Radio and would be transmitted at 7 p.m. 11 a.m. EST) Monday in the Moscow Radio English language service for North America.

A Discouraged Thurmond Talks Of Quitting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Nate Thurmond, struck down by a painful assortment of disabling injuries in each of his seven National Basketball Association seasons with the San Fancisco Warriors, says he's ready to "do other things."

When you're getting a reported $90,000 a year for your services, it's not an easy decision.

OPERATION

At least it didn't seem so when the NBA's rebound leader, in a hospital bed Sunday and 30 minutes before an operation on his right knee — the second of his career—told the Asociated Press he "probably will get out" of the sport at the age of 28.

While Thurmond was in the hospital, his warrior teammates were losing to the Milwaukee Bucks, 123-107, in Milwaukee.

Neither hospital authorities nor Thurmond's surgeon, Dr. Lloyd W. Taylor, would comment on the outcome of the operation.

"I have other things I can do, nothing that'll make me wealthy..." the 6-foot-11 center added, offering no details.

It was the sound of a man gloomy and discouraged, although Thurmond explained he'd been thinking of leaving basketball before he was belted out of the season last Friday.

NO BRUISE

At first it seemed only a bad bruise on the knee, with 3:40 to go in the first period against the Philadelphia 76ers, when Thurmond hit the deck in a dive for a loose ball. San Francisco lost 127-105.

"I didn't feel any pain," he said at the time. "But when I got up the knee felt as it it was locked. They say I fell down again. I don't remember."

A club official said, "poor Nate is heartbroken...he can't even straighten out his leg, he's in so much pain."

The lateral cartilage of the knee was smashed. Two years ago the damage was to the medial cartilage. Ironically, the earlier injury also took place in a game against Philadelphia.

Thurmond, one of the best centers in the NBA with 17.9 rebounds a game and a 22.8 scoring average, was to have played in the league's all-star game Tuesday as starting center for the West.

EVERY YEAR

"Why does it always have to happen near all-star time?" Thurmond pleaded after the new injury.

"Something has happened to me every year I've been in the league..." Thurmond said in an ominous exchange with a newsman before the fateful game in Philadelphia.

The scribe wanted Nate's thoughts on the fact he'd missed only three games this season.

"...So I begin to think about when it will happen this season," said the star from Bowling Green.

He had only a few minutes to wait.

Marciano Vs. Clay — Day For Electronics

Well, tomorrow's the big day in boxing and electronics.

That's when the computerized "super fight of the century" between Rocky Marciano and Cassius Clay takes place on theater screens around the country, including San Francisco, Oakland and Richmond.

I have no idea who wins this mythical battle between men who in their time ruled the heavyweight division without defeat.

In fact, there are only three men who know the outcome — the director, the film editor and sound man.

The security surrounding this show is as fascinating as the fight itself.

It was filmed in Florida last summer about three weeks before Marciano's death in an airplane accident.

Marciano, 45 at the time, lost 40 pounds getting in shape for the filming of 70 rounds over a 10-day period.

Some Real Blood May Be On Tap

Producer-director Murry Woroner filmed Rocky and Cassius in their respective styles . . . Marciano's bull-like battering against Clay's stick and run attack. While sticking to the computer readouts, both men tackled their roles with enthusiasm and there are reports that real blood in addition to makeup will be seen.

They made seven possible endings . . . either man winning on a knockout, technical kayo, decision or draw . . . but Clay doesn't even know the result.

Bonded messengers will carry the films to the various theaters one hour before the 7 p.m. showtime tomorrow to add to the cloak and dagger secrecy.

Biggest Sports Gate Yet

Alvin T. Guthertz of Corte Madera, publicist who filled me in on some of the foregoing statistics, said the "fight" is expected to draw the largest single night theater audience and the greatest sport gate in history.

Guthertz talked with Marciano in San Francisco shortly before Rocky's tragic death. Said Guthertz: "Rocky told me that he worked out every morning even though he hadn't fought in 14 years. He told me, 'You live longer that way.'"

A printer came up to me the other day and described in great detail how he thought Clay would cut Marciano to ribbons. But when I expressed willingness to lay my money on Marciano, he backed off suspiciously: "Oh, no you don't. You must know something. I'll bet it's fixed."

I HOPE you saw ABC-TV's "Wide World of Sports" Saturday evening when Petaluma was given about 30 minutes of network exposure on its annual World Wrist Wrestling Championship.

A Small Town Can Be Fun, Too

I thought the TV director did a magnificent job in presenting the idea that a small town can be a lot of fun. Particularly impressive were the closeup shots of the wildly screaming jam-packed crowd and the facial gymnastics of the muscular contestants. Some of them looked like they were being tortured to death.

Jack Homel of Boyes Hot Springs, veteran major league trainer (Tigers, Athletics) who refereed the matches, was given considerable TV exposure because he was one of the originators of this unique tournament.

But I was sorry that the TV production neglected Petaluma columnist Bill Soberanes and and barkeep Mike Gilardi whose efforts also have made the tournament a howling success.

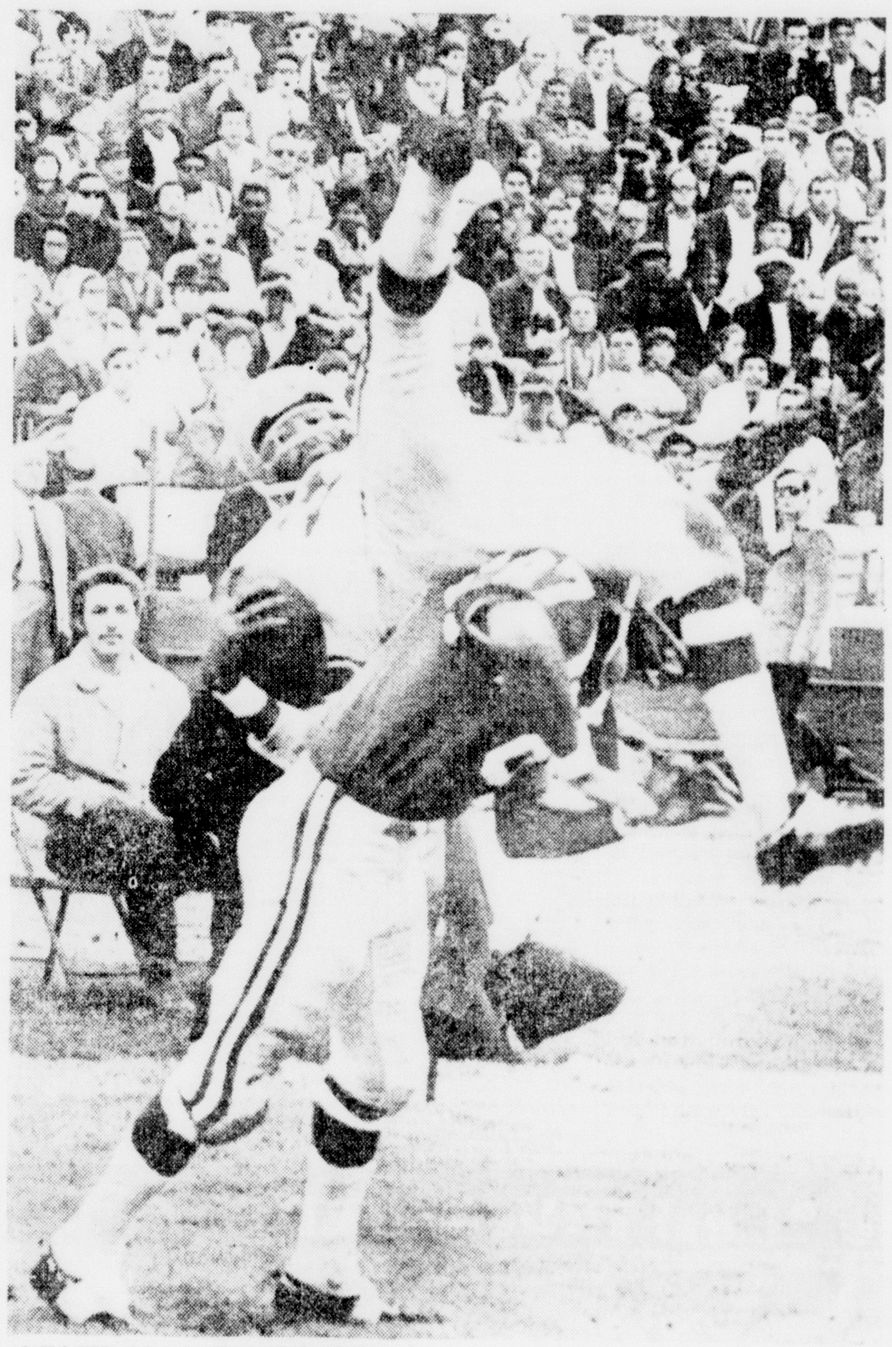

Like the contestants themselves, you've got to hand it to them.

Miss Cochran Wins Ski Event

MARIBOUR, Yougloslavia (AP) — Barbara Cochran has high hopes for U.S. girls in the World Skiing Championships next month at Val Gardena, Italy, and, off her prformancee here, her optimism is warranted.

"I think we will do fine with a chance for placement," the 19-year-old from Richmond, Vt., said Sunday after she scored her first victory in World Cup competition by winning the slalom with runs of 47.31 and 47.10 for a total of 94.41 seconds.

Her victory combined with her third place in Saturday's giant slalom earned Miss Cochran the Golden Fox Trophy for the best over-all performance.

West Wins The Last Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The long, long, football season is over, until summer, anyhow, and many a neglected housewife will breathe a sigh of relief. But it went out with a bang Sunday in the 20th annual Pro Bowl as the National Football League closed its books on the game as it has been presented for two decades.

DRAMA

The West won, 16-13, on a note of drama that came with 72 seconds remaining—a perfectly executed 28-yard pass from Roman Gabriel, of the Los Angeles Rams, the NFL's Most Valuable Player, to Carroll Dale of the Green Bay Packers, who has been doing this sort of thing for 10 years.

The balding Dale, an ex-Ram, cradled the ball in the left corner of the end zone, just a step or so from out of bounds, and that was it.

The East attack, guided by Cleveland's Bill Nelsen and New York's Fran Tarkenton, had bedeviled the mighty West defense all afternoon. And the East defense had stymied and held the West to just one touchdown.

SAFETY

The Pittsburgh kicker out scrambled Atlanta's Greg Brezina for the ball. The safety made the score 13-9 and the East had to punt.

Detroit's Lem Barney ran it back 22 to the West 45. Eight plays later, including key gains by Baltimore's little used Tom Matte, the West had the ballgame.

Dallas' Mel Renfro was the

NBA Owners To Discuss Expansion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With money foremost on their minds, the National Basketball Association team owners meet today to talk over expansion and or on the eve of the league's All-Star game.

Although it was announced months earlier in Chicago that two expansion teams were likely to be added to the 14-team league, the word now is going around that a merger with the American Basketball Association is a possibility.

Both Harry Glickman, trying to get the Portland franchise, and Nick Mileti representing Cleveland, said they came to the meeting under the impression that two expansion teams will be named.

Curt Flood Swinging

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood comes out swinging against baseball Tuesday amidst warnings from the presidents of the American and National Leagues that if the veteran outfielder's court challenge of baseball's reserve clause is successful it could mean an end to the sport.

The league heads — Charles "Chub" Feeney of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American — are defendants in the Federal Court suit along with Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the 24 major league teams. They will be required at a hearing Tuesday to show cause why Flood's request to be declared a free agent should not be granted.

Marin Tars Lose To Contra Costa

"The kids played tremendously. We played very well on defense. Everyone gave 110 per cent. It was the best effort by any team I've ever coached."

Sounds like College of Marin Coach John Panagakis might have been talking about a good win, but it wasn't.

It was what you can call a tough, good loss, if there is such a thing. College of Marin, in the thick of the Camino Norte conference basketball title fight, lost a toughie to pre-season favorite Contra Costa of Richmond, 55-52, at College of Marin Saturday night before a packed house of some 1,000 fans.

"We were in it all the way," Panagakis said. "We led at times in the first half, and the biggest lead they had was only six points."

Actually the Tars had a crack at it with 20 seconds to go, but they missed a layup that would have tied it, then fouled trying to get the ball back.

The loss knocked the Tars out of a four-way tie for first place with Contra Costa, DeAnza of Cupertino and West Valley of Campbell. The latter three teams all have 4-1 records while the Tars dropped to 3-2.

Contra Costa	30	25—55
College of Marin	29	53—52

Contra Costa Scoring—Glenn Jones, 3-3-9; Ray Daglow, 5-1-11; Ollie Ellison, 5-2-12; Ike Wardley, 2-0-4; Ray Webb, 4-0-8; Jim Lee, 5-1-11. Totals: 24-7-55.

College of Marin Scoring—Pat Schafer, 4-2-10; Tom Seidenberg, 2-1-5; Bob Tait, 4-3-11; Pat Purcell, 4-2-10; Daryl Ravani, 5-2-12; Chip Tyson, 2-0-4. Totals: 21-10-52.

Tamalpaais Girls Win In Gymnastics

Tamalpais High School, getting three all-around class winners, fairly ran away with the Northern California Girls Compulsory Gymnastics meet at Tamalpais High School Saturday, piling up a whopping 321 points.

Drake was a distant runnerup with 176 points, followed by Montgomery of Santa Rosa with 142, Novato with 129, Terra Linda with 121, and San Rafael with 113. No other school had 100 or more points.

Vickie Van Lacham of Tamalpais walked away with the all-around crown in the novice class, even though she didn't win a single event. Rani Meeks of Tamalpais, who won in the bars, took the all-around title in the low intermediates and Jessica Miller of Tamalpais took first in all-round in the beginner class, winning both the beam and floor excercise competition.

Mauren Champie of Drake took first all-around in the two-girl field of advanced competitors, beating out teammate Gracia Bell. Top Marin finishers in the high intermediates was Megan Danielsen of Terra Linda, second, followed by Diane Lamb of Novato, third.

U.C. Davis Cagers Whip Sonomans

For the second time this season, the U. C. Davis Aggies blistered the nets in the second half to roll over Sonoma State College. The Ags registered a 76-53 triumph Saturday in a Far Western Conference game.

The loss was the 12th straight for Sonoma State, now 1-12 on the season and 0-4 in FWC play.

Ramon Solomon, the Cossacks' leading scorer, turned in his poorest effort of the year as he netted only 13 points, shooting a horrendous 5-21 from the floor.

U.C. Davis	30 46—76
Sonoma St.	28-25—53

Sonoma State Scoring: Ramon Solomon, 5-3-13; Dave Thomas, 5-2-12; Mel Peterson, 5-0-10; Jeff Barker, 2-4-8; Roy Jones, 2-1-5; Mike Newman, 2-0-4; Gary Grellman, 0-1-1. Totals, 2-111-53. Team Fouls: Sonoma State 26, Davis 17. Fouled out: Sonoma State, Solomon, Barker.

NO DEFENSE

"There just is no defense on a perfectly thrown ball and a great catch," said Fears, who caught a lot of them in his great years as a Ram.

Fears went back to the play that preceded the errant pass from center that led to the safety. On a vital third and three, Jim Marshall of Minnesota smeared Nelsen fr a 12-yard loss to the East 17.

Chicago's Gale Sayers was named the back of the game, an honor many felt could be shared with Gabriel, and Dallas' George Andrie won Lineman of the Game laurels.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

It isn't just enough to roll the ball over a certain arrow. The ball may be coming or going as it touches the point you've aimed at. For better accuracy, choose two targets — an arrow and a certain board perhaps 10 feet farther away — and try to make the ball cross both of these points.

In doing this you will be less likely to loop the ball, but you will, instead, work harder to deliver a ball that rolls fairly straight for a while, then breaks into the pins.

Otto Sees Start, Finish

HOUSTON (AP) — Big Jim Otto saw the American Football League begin and he was there when it died.

The Oakland Raiders center played in the first AFL All-Star game. He participated Saturday in the Astrodome in the 10th All-Star contest-the final effort of the league.

The West All-Stars, led by passing of San Diego quarterback John Hall, defeated the East 26-3 before 30,170 fans.

Next season the AFL becomes the American Conference of the merged AFL and National Football league.

TOUCHING

"This is all kind of touching to me," Otto said. "I saw it all start and now it's all ending.

"I don't think we'll lose our identity though. The rivalries will always be there. Some of the younger guys might not feel it so much but the older ones will."

Hadl expressed disappointment that the leagues merged.

"I hate to se us lose our identity," he said. "I hate to see us split up. It just won't be the same."

Hadl, who completed 18-of-26 passes for 224 yards and one touchdown, was named the Most Valuable Player in the All-Star game.

Lance Alworth, the gifted San Diego receiver who caught a 21-yard scoring pass from Hadl, said it "sure was good to go out winning.

HEADS UP

"At least we went out with our heads up instead of down like some people said they would be when we got started," Alworth said.

Alworth was referring to the last two Super Bowl games in which AFL teams whipped favored NFL clubs.

"I don't know what they will call the championship game next year," he added.

Alworth admited the AFL improved with age.

"We thought we were as good as anyone around when we first started," he said. "But I would hate to go out there and play now knowing only what I knew then."

Douglass Wins In Phoenix; Another Victory By Debbie

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Dale Douglass, a lean and lanky mountaineer out of Evergreen, Colo., charged out of a tightly bunched field with a final round of 66 to win top prize of $20,000 in the Phoenix Open Golf Tournament yesterday.

Douglass finished with a total of 271, just a stroke ahead of Gene Littler and Howie Johnson at 272. Littler and Johnson won $9,250 each.

In a four-way tie for fourth at 273 were Tom Weiskopf, Orville Moody, Bob Lunn, Dave Hill and Dave Marr. Ron Cerrudo, formerly of San Rafael and now living in Napa, had a 280 and won $529.

Golf

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — South African Dennis Hutchinson shot a final round three-under-par 68 and won the South African Professional Golfers Association championship.

Swimming

Tennis

AUKLAND, New Zealand — Mrs. Alice Tym of Fort Myers, Fla., defeated New Zealander Robyn Legge, 6-3, 7-9, 6-1, in the women's final of the Aukland Championships.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — Britain's Ann Jones defeated Peaches Partkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-1, 6-2, in the women's final of the Western Province Tennis Championships.

Baseball Problem In Seattle

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Sunday there is a strong possibility the Seattle Pilots might be moved to Milwaukee if the American League club cannot iron out its financial problems.

Kuhn, who spoke at the Wisconsin Baseball Writers Association's 17th annual Diamond Dinner, said "there is a serious problem emerging in Seattle."

The American League has given Seattle owners until Thursday to straighten out their financial affairs.

"There is a possibility of a franchise transfer," Kuhn said. "When and if there is a transfer, one thing is certain—Milwaukee will receive serious consideration."

"I assure you . . . that there is a very deep affection for this community as far as I am concerned," the commissioner told a crowd of more than 700 persons.

A Patek Philippe doesn't just tell you the time.

Hawks Whip Seals

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks boosted their winning streak to six Sunday by defeating the Oakland Seals 3-1, the longest run of wins so far in the National Hockey League.

Oakland will meet the Pittsburgh Penguins Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

Chicago's victory left the Black Hawks a mere two points behind Detroit in their struggle for fourth place in the East Division.

Stan Mitka made his 23rd goal of the season when he rammed a puck into the cage on a pass from Dennis Hull.

Mitka later set up Hull with a nice pass at 6:21 of the second period and began a play on which rookie Cliff Koroll scored at 12:57 of the second period.

Chicago goalie Tony Esposito lost his bid for his 11th shutout of the year and his third in a row at 19 minutes of the second period when Carol Vadnais eased the puck into the cage.

Marin Driver Out Of Race

Craig Murray of San Rafael, who entered a 1969 Ford Torino in yesteray's Motor Trend 500-mile late model stock car race at Riverside Raceway, failed to make the starting grid when his car developed mechanical trouble in qualifying competition, it was reported today.

Murray, 30-year-old president of Sears Point International Raceway, was one of 171 drivers seeking the 44 places in the starting lineup. His car was built by veteran driver-mechanic Scotty Cain of Fresno.

Robin Is Winner

Robin Bachrach of the Dolphins of Marin won the 200 individual medley and took two seconds and a third at the San Jose State College Senior AAU swim meet Saturday and yesterday.

An Easy Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Contestants in the Monte Carlo Rally reached here this morning after 60 hours on the road and agreed it was "a big yawn."

Springlike conditions along the eight routes converging on Monte Carlo brought few dropouts and of the 184 starters, 165 were officially still running this morning.

One of the retirements during the night was the lone American-entered team, in the rally, Hendrik Blok and Bob De Jong.

Early this morning near Gap the crew apparently fell asleep and ran off the road, crashing into a telegraph pole, severely damaging the Ford Mustang.

Both men were slightly injured and were taken to a hospital for a checkup.

All the big works teams reached Monte Carlo penalty free and Ford, Porsche, Citroen and Lancia crews said it had been a dawdle.

Britain's John Sprinzel, in his 12th Monte Carlo Rally, said he had listened to the radio and slept most of the way while his co-driver Gerry Ryan did most of the driving on their MGC.

"My only complaint is I need a bath," he said.

Among the early arrivals was the favorite for the women's prize, the French pair, Mrs. Marie-Claude Beaumont and Miss Martine de la Grandrive in an Open Commodore.

Foyt Triumphs At Riverside

RIVERSIDE (UPI)— A. J. Foyt wasn't sure it would ever happen.

Foyt, the 35-year-old USAC veteran from Houston, Tex., scored a four-second victory in the accident-marred Motor Trend 500 Sunday and then said:

"I've always wondered if I could win a race here as many times as I've had bad luck."

Foyt's first victory ever at the Riverside International Raceway came in the first NASCAR Grand National stock car event of the year and brought the man who has won three times at Indianapolis a check for $19,100.

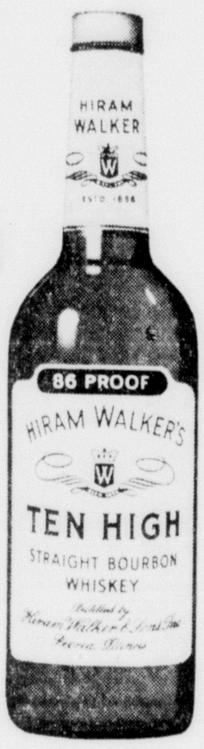

Jim Cook, 48, Norwalk, Calif., was critically injured when his 1968 Ford slammed head-on at 140 miles per hour into hay bales after being involved in an accident with two other cars.

A hospital spokesman said Cook was in "very critical" condition. He was given a tracheotomy,a hole in his windpipe, to aid his breathing.

The other injured driver was Buddy Young, 27, Fairfax, Va. He received a broken arm and possible internal injuries when his 1969 Ford hit a wall at more than 100 miles an hour.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Video Tape Proves A Ampex Corp. Bonanza

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. During 1968 I purchased Ampex Corp. at varying amounts between 29 and 35. It subsequently reached 49⅞ but has recently backed off several points. I am now retired and seriously considering replacing Ampex with a dividend-paying issue. What do you advise?—A.K.

A. Unless you are really pressed for additional current income I would favor holding Ampex. A world leader in autio and visual tape equipment and related systems, Ampex is estimated to supply 75 per cent of the video recording equipment used in commercial television. In fact, video products accounted for about 40 per cent of Ampex 1968 sales.

Five years ago, Ampex entered the mass consumer market for tape recorders, cassettes and so on. Sales in this area reached $70 million in 1968. Another promising field which opened up as the result of the Federal Bank Act of 1968 is bank surveillance. A $43,000 video recording system introduced by Ampex will be marketed by Diebold, a well-established bank equipment firm.

If the 15 per cent annual growth rate projected by management is attained, shares should prove worth holding.

Q. I am tempted by the 8 and 9 per cent yields you mention but am confused by the mechanics. Are there any safe alternatives paying more than certificates of deposit?—B.C.

A. Because you live in Philadelphia the recent offer by the First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust may be what you are seeking. They are now selling 7.25 per cent subordinated capital notes with 30-month maturities in $100 multiples. Although similar notes have been available before, this is the first time a bank has actively sought the small investor by reducing the denomination.

If public response to this pace-setting move is enthusiastic, other banks will undoubtedly follow suit. The notes will be redeemed for five banking days following purchase but after that they must be held to maturity. However, a loan using the notes as collateral can be obtained from another bank. In the event of insolvency, payment on these notes is subordinate to claims of creditors and depositors.

United Fruit Merger

NEW YORK (UPI) —AMK Corp., which acquired 83 per cent of United Fruit Co. late in 1968, said it now plans to merge United Fruit into AMK and that the name of AMK may be changed. AMK said minority shareholders will be offered securities for their shares. The company had combined revenues of $1.5 billion for the year ended Oct. 31. It also owns John Morrell Co., the Chicago meat packer.

Computers Deal

NEW YORK (UPI) — Computer Exchange, Inc., has agreed to buy Computer Synergy, Inc., of Oakland, Calif., a data processing firm, for stock.

Living Cost Report Hurts Trading Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Selling in the glamours and a jump in the cost of living index in December—which pushed inflation for 1969 to the highest yearly mark since the Korean War—drove stocks lower today for the seventh successive day in moderate turnover.

Volume of around 9 million shares was running about 2 million shares behind Friday's pace.

IBM, off 11 3-4 on Friday following a small decline in fourth quarter profits—the first quarterly decline in 10 years—fell 19 3-4 at the close to 350. Also losing ground were Burroughs Polaroid, Avon Products aand Memorex.

Among the softest spots in trading before the close were Polaroid down around 6 1-4, ducts and Memorex.

Among the softest spots in trading before the close were Polaroid down around 6 1-4, Avon Products 5 1-2 Memorex; 31 47-8 Corning Glass 3 3-4, Walt Disney 4, American Research 3 1-2 National Cash Register 51-2 and Honeywell 2 3-4.

Japan's GNP For 1968 Shows Increase

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's Gross National Product (GNP) in fiscal 1968 totaled $146.639 billion U.S., according to the economic planning agency report on the year's national income.

Adjusted for price increases or in real terms ,the fiscal 1968 GNP totaled $128.696 billion U.S., up 13.8 per cent over fiscal 1967, the report said.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

New Form 1040 Is Not Hard To Figure If Properly Studied

Wikel

We have a new tax form 1040. This is the biggest revision that has been made in the tax return form in many a year. Actually, Form 1040 itself is a single page piece of paper and can be quickly completed by anyone with a very simple financial life.

Let's look at the form. The first three lines are devoted to your name and address, social security number and occupation.

If you receive a preaddressed forms package from IRS, be sure and use the form they sent to you. If the name or address is different, rule out the line in question and insert the correct information.

If you must use your own form, then remove the peel-off label from the government package and attach it to your form.

FOURTH LINE

The fourth line is for use if there has been any change in your name or address between 1969 and 1968. If there is no change, write same. The fifth line is to insert the name and address of your employer at the time of filing the return. Now this may be different from the name and address of your employer during 1969.

You may be filing this return anytime up to April 15 of 1970 and you may work for many different employers. What is called for here is the name and address of the employer that you are working for at the time you filed your tax return.

Line 6 is for filling in your filing status. Be sure to check one of the six boxes.

Line 7 is for claiming the number of exemptions for yourself and your spouse.

DEPENDENCY CREDIT

Line 8 is for claiming the dependency credit for dependent children who live with you and Line 9 is for claiming the dependency credit for other dependents.

There are only two lines to use for 9 and if you claim more than two such other dependents, you should turn the Form 1040 over and on the bottom of the reverse side you will find space to list the additional dependents.

If there is not sufficient space here, attach a separate piece of paper listing all the required information on the other dependents.

Line 10 is simply a total of lines 7, 8 and 9.

Line 11 is more or less self-explanatory. There is a place on the back of the form that says "Attach Copy B of Form W-2 Here". Of course if you don't have all of your Forms W-2, then you should explain why you don't have them and there is a small place at the bottom of the reverse side of Form 1040 for this.

SOME ADVICE

Actually, if you don't want a lot of correspondence about this with IRS you would be better advised to take a separate piece of paper and write a long, thorough and complete explanation of who you worked for, when you worked for them, how much was withheld from your paychecks for income tax, how much was withheld for FICA and how much income you earned and why you don't have the W-2.

Line 12 is more or less self-explanatory. It is for entering your dividend income and provided your dividends are less than $100 you are all right. But, if they are more than $100, you will have to attach Schedule B. The IRS assumes that you are aware that dividends of less than $100, if they quality, are subject to the $100 exclusion, so that if you have dividends over $100 you have to use Schedule B, another piece of paper.

Line 13 should be self-explanatory, that is interest you receive is entered here, provided that it is not more than $100. If it is more than $100, you have to list the interest income on separate Schedule B.

Interest income is not only the interest that you actually receive but it also means interest that is credited to your bank or savings and loan deposits, whether it is entered in your passbook or not. Here again, unless you have a very simple financial life, you will have to complete Schedule B and attach it to your Form 1040 in order to have a complete return.

Line 14 is for "Other Income" and we will discuss this in a later column.

Marin's Two Cosmetic Firms Continuing Expansion Programs

Despite restrictive fiscal policies and a shortage of liquidity, you have to hand it to our San Rafael-based cosmetic manufacturers, who are still traveling along the road of expansion.

Holiday Magic, Inc. has talked a group of investors into taking a franchise to distribute its products in Denmark, Norway and Sweden, where complexions are already milk-white. Operations headquartered in Copenhagen will begin in mid-March.

Cosmetica, Inc., parent company of Anita Lynn, Inc., producer of milk protein cosmetics, is dealing to acquire 80 per cent of the outstanding stock of Magic Mirror Beauty Salons, Inc. and its franchised corporations of Los Angeles.

WALTER L. SPICER of Kent Woodlands has been named director of real estate development of Sun Valley Co., Inc. He was formerly regional vice president of First American Title Insurance Co. of Santa Ana and president of its San Francisco subsidiary operations. He and his family will move to Sun Valley next month.

Spicer

Dordahl

ALVIN M. DORDAHL, general manager of the San Rafael office of Automatic Rain Co., distributor of Rain Bird sprinkler equipment, will head a newly established Santa Rosa office. A resident of Sebastopol, he has been with the company three years. Previously he was on the Rain Bird staff, first with the design section, then Northern California sales representative and engineer.

SAM F. MILES of Larkspur has retired from Atlantic Richfield Co. after 45 years of service with the company. He began his career as a field clerk with the engineering department in San Francisco and subsequently held a number of positions in marketing operations throughout Northern California and Nevada. At the time of his retirement he was regional administrator for the coastal region.

Nebel

THOMAS NEBEL of Lucas Valley has been promoted to the newly created post of senior vice president of Boothe Computer Corp. Previously vice president of marketing, he joined Boothe in 1968. Before that he held positions with IBM's data processing division in Toledo and Detroit.

D. GORDON ARTER of Sausalito has been promoted to secretary, property claims, at the San Francisco home office of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies. He has been with the company since 1934, holding various underwriting, claims and sales positions. Since 1968 he has been assistant secretary of property claims.

MICHAEL W. ERLIN of San Anselmo has been named an associate of Fred S. James and Co., insurance brokerage firm. Since 1963 he has been a member of Folger and Erlin which was recently merged with James.

KURT L. ROSENTHAL of San Rafael, former owner of Melody TV, is new lease and fleet manager for Ames Ford Sales, San Rafael.

SPEAKERS: J. Jack Wyman of Ross, president of Wyman Anderson-McConnell Advertising, will be guest speaker before the San Francisco Advertising Club Jan. 21 . . . That same date James L. Placack of San Rafael will address the Marin Association of Life Underwriters. He is with Connecticut General Life Insurance Co.
